Boy Critical As Bike, Car Collide

A 5-year-old Town of Rosendale boy was critically injured and his 11-year-old brother less seriously hurt at 2 p. m. Thursday when the bicycle on which they were riding was in collision with a 1963 sedan on Route 32 at Grove Street, Tilton.

Kingston State Police said David Broughton, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Broughton of Grove Street, Tilton, and his brother, Mark, were taken to Kingston Hospital by Doctor's Ambulance of Kingston and Don's Ambulance of Rosendale. State Police Sergeant David Paulsen investigated the mishap and said the car was operated by Anna DuBois, 72, of R. D. 1, New Paltz.

A spokesman at the hospital reported Mark's condition was listed as critical this morning. David was in fair condition. Trooper Fred Cooper said Mark suffered cerebral hemorrhages and other injuries. David sustained a fractured right leg and cerebral concussion.

Sergeant Paulsen reported the car was traveling south on Route 32 when the bicycle entered the highway from Grove Street and started to cross the main road when the mishap occurred.

Lunar 4 Off, Hopes For New Moon Feats

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Lunar Orbiter 4 sped accurately today toward the task of outdoing its predecessors by photographing 96 per cent of the moon's surface.

Scientists controlling the spacecraft after its launch from Cape Kennedy, Fla., reported it was navigating properly with a mechanical eye cocked at the star Canopus for reference.

After a 254,519-mile, 89-hour voyage, Orbiter is to begin mapping the moon on May 11. Unlike Orbits 1, 2 and 3, which skimmed within a few miles of the moon for closeups, Orbiter 4 was to rocket into an oval path ranging from 1,650 to 3,800 miles above the surface.

The craft blasted off at 6:25 p. m. Thursday aboard an Atlas-Agena rocket after technicians successfully sweated over a recalcitrant booster rocket valve.

HILL TAKEN, COST HIGH

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Marines took Hill 881 North today, the last of three border peaks that have cost the Leathernecks nearly 1,000 dead or wounded and the Communists an estimated 1,000 killed in 12 days of some of the hardest fighting of the Vietnam war.

Final Resistance Light
U.S. officers in Da Nang announced that the summit of the hill was occupied at 2:35 p. m. by a Marine company that met only "light resistance" in the final assault. This indicated that the North Vietnamese had pulled out of their entrenched positions, possibly slipping across the Laotian border just below the demilitarized zone.

Elsewhere in South Vietnam's northern sector, the South Vietnamese reported their second success this week in the Hue area 40 miles south of the demilitarized zone. A spokesman said a battalion of the Vietnamese army's 1st Division drove a company of guerrillas into a vise with another government battalion and a troop of armored personnel carriers Thursday. U.S. Army helicopter gunships joined in the battle, and 89 guerrillas were killed and five captured, the spokesman said.

Two days earlier, government troops reported killing 156 guerrillas in an all-night battle northwest of Hue.

Planes Hit Hanoi Area
Poor weather limited U.S. pilots to only 68 missions over North Vietnam Thursday. But U.S. Air Force planes returned to the Hanoi area to bomb the electrical transformer site seven miles north of the city again.

Col. Robin Olds of Washington, D.C., shot down his second MIG, it made him the first double MIG killer of the war.

The kill came in a 20-minute series of at least seven dogfights during the bombing of the transformer site. Olds' victim, a MIG21, was the 49th Communist jet claimed by American pilots in Vietnam.

The United States also lost another plane Thursday, a Navy A4 Skyhawk, to ground fire during an attack on a surface-to-air missile site south of Thanh Hoa.

It was the 530th U.S. plane reported lost over North Vietnam. The pilot was listed as missing.

The Marines completed their conquest of three adjacent hills commanding some of the Communist infiltration routes from Laos and the demilitarized zone after nearly two weeks of attack and counterattack and almost incessant air and artillery pounding of the stubborn North Vietnamese.

The Leathernecks captured Hill 861—so named because it is 861 meters 2,798 feet high—last Friday and fought their way to the top of Hill 881 South on Tuesday.

Cautious Move to Top
They dug in Thursday night on the slopes of 881 North and early today began moving cautiously toward the top.

Resistance from troops of North Vietnam's 325th Division, who reportedly came across the demilitarized zone in February, had lessened over the past two days.

The last heavy fighting was reported early Wednesday morning when the Marines repulsed an attack by the Communists, suffered 22 dead and 69 wounded, and killed 78 North Vietnamese soldiers. Only some mortar and sniper fire was reported Thursday, and the Marines said there were no additional casualties from this.

Both Sides Hit Hard
U.S. military headquarters in Saigon said late today that in the 12 days of fighting 133 Marines were killed and 383 wounded. The American command said 551 North Vietnamese soldiers were killed.

But 24 hours earlier, Lt. Gen. Lewis W. Walt, commander of U.S. Marines in Vietnam, told a news conference at Da Nang that 157 Marines had been killed and 738 wounded in the battle for the hills from April 24 through Wednesday. He said enemy losses were 512 confirmed killed and another 610 probably killed.

The American headquarters in Saigon had no explanation for the discrepancy in figures. The battle for the three peaks, which form a triangle, broke out April 24 when a 240-man Marine company ran across a North Vietnamese force of about the same size. Both the Marines and the North Vietnamese kept pouring in reinforcements until a major battle developed.

It is believed the Marines do not plan to hold the hilltops for any extended length of time. Col. John Lanigan, of London, Ohio, commander of the 3rd Marine Regiment and the 1,400

Leathernecks in the fighting, said earlier this week the main objective was "to drive the North Vietnamese out and kill as many as possible. It is not to hold ground."

Lanigan indicated, however, that the Marines may keep some reconnaissance units in the area to check on movements of North Vietnamese troops infiltrating into South Vietnam.

"These three hills are key terrain," he said. "They command the high ground."

Marine officers said the North Vietnamese had been preparing to overrun the town of Khe Sanh, a Marine outpost about five miles southeast of the hills, to gain a psychological victory.

Khe Sanh is a town of about 1,000 inhabitants, surrounded by Montagnard settlements.

Marine officers said they believed the North Vietnamese had massed supplies near the twin peaks of Hill 881 for an attack on Khe Sanh.

Before dawn today U.S. B52 bombers returned to the Khe Sanh area and pounded suspected Communist bunkers, trench networks and troop assembly areas in support of the Marines. The B52s had hit the same area Thursday night.

As the fighting raged in the northern part of the country, the Saigon government reaffirmed its intention to observe a 24-hour cease-fire on Buddha's birthday, May 23 and repeated its offer of April 8 to meet with North Vietnamese representatives to discuss an extension of the truce.

North Vietnam has not responded but has reported the declaration of the Viet Cong that they would observe a 48-hour truce from 7 a. m. May 22 to 7 a. m. May 24.

WW II Ace Still Scores

By GEORGE ESPER

SAIGON (AP) — Col. Robin Olds is 44 in a young man's Air Force but he's still one of the hottest pilots of the Vietnam war.

A World War II ace with 24½ enemy planes to his credit, then, he shot down his second Communist MIG21 Thursday to become the first double MIG killer of the Vietnam conflict.

"It was a great experience," he said when he returned to his base, Ubon Airfield in Thailand.

"It was a mission to keep the MIGs off the 105s F105 Thunderchiefs and we did just that. We spotted four MIG17s later, but they didn't want to mix it up."

Olds' flight of F4C Phantoms was escorting the F105 Thunderchiefs whose mission was to bomb the Hanoi transformer site seven miles north of the center of the Communist capital.

Olds said that as his flight got near the Phuc Yen airfield "two MIG21s were spotted at 10 o'clock high heading for the last formation of 105s."

"We broke into them," Olds related, "and when they saw us they quickly forgot what they were there for. One disappeared and the other got nailed. He was burning when I left him. An F105 pilot saw him go into the ground and I didn't see him bail out."

Olds, graduated in 1943 from West Point where he was an outstanding tackle on the football team, comes from a long line of military men. One member of his family was a colonel on Gen. George Washington's staff. His father, Maj. Gen. Robert Olds, was commander of the 2nd Air Force during World War II.

Olds, of Washington, D.C., is married to former movie actress Ella Raines. They have two daughters, Chris, 15, and Susan, 13.

He came to Southeast Asia from Shaw Air Force Base, S.C., and took command of the 8th Tactical Fighter Wing at Ubon, which calls itself the "Wolfpack Gang" because it has downed more than half of the 37 MIGs claimed by the Air Force in aerial duels. Navy pilots have downed the other 12 MIGs claimed by U.S. pilots.

Olds shot down his first MIG over the Red River Valley last Jan. 2, the day Air Force pilots downed seven Communist interceptors for the highest single-day kill of the war in aerial duels.

Both of Olds' MIG kills have been made with air-to-air missiles. The Russian-designed MIG21 is a bigger prize than the earlier MIG17, since it is faster and more maneuverable.

Only one other U.S. pilot, Lt. Hugh Wisley, a Navy flyer from Wayne, N. J., is credited with two enemy planes shot down, one a propeller-driven plane early this year and the other a MIG17 on April 24.

Olds flew 107 missions with the 8th Air Force in World War II and won two distinguished Flying Crosses, two Silver Stars, the Air Medal with 27 oak leaf clusters, the British Distinguished Flying Cross and the French Croix de Guerre.

During the Korean War, he was in the Air Defense Command and, as he says, "missed the fighting."

Resigns at Oontora

Sullivan Paltz - Bound

"I am pleased to return to the teaching world that was my first love, but I regret leaving the position of administrative head of a fine school district."

With these words, Dr. George R. Sullivan, Woodstock resident and Superintendent of Schools of Oontora Central Schools District — one of the largest in this area — made the official announcement that he has resigned his post, effective Sept. 1, to become a full professor at State University of New York at New Paltz.

The Oontora Board of Education accepted his resignation with regret at a special session Thursday night; wished him success in his future career of teaching graduate courses in research on the southern Ulster County campus.

Dr. Sullivan told The Freeman today that he wanted residents to understand very clearly that his leave-taking has not come about for any but personal reasons. He said that the Oontora School District is one in which the families and all residents combine with the Board to work for educational betterment and improvement. He expressed his appreciation for the opportunity of working with members of the present board, as well as previous ones, over the past six years — and praised both the board and area residents for their interest in quality education.

He also says he does not plan to give up his residence on Glasco Turnpike in Woodstock for a permanent move to New Paltz, but will commute to his job and remain as a resident in the Oontora District so that his children will be able to take advantage of the "fine educational advantages available to them there."

In his letter of resignation to the Board of Education he noted that the Oontora School District is one in which the families and all residents combine with the Board to work for educational betterment and improvement. He expressed his appreciation for the opportunity of working with members of the present board, as well as previous ones, over the past six years — and praised both the board and area residents for their interest in quality education.

Derby-Eve March

Confrontation Possible in Louisville

MARCHING THOUGHTS—Dr. Martin Luther King (1) talks with comedian Dick Gregory at a rally at the Calvary Baptist Church in Louisville Thursday. Both spoke to the group of open housing advocates and scheduled a march in the downtown area Saturday. UPI TELEPHOTO

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Negro civil rights leaders have announced plans for a march on Churchill Downs tonight creating a possible confrontation with the 25,000 fans who normally attend Kentucky Derby-eve races.

The Rev. A.D. Williams King, leader in the movement for an open housing ordinance, said Thursday he planned to "go house shopping — just to look, not buy" in the city's all-white South End, scene of violence during demonstrations three weeks ago.

King's brother, Dr. Martin Luther King, in Louisville for Derby week said earlier he and the Southern Christian Leadership Conference "are 100 per cent behind using every means of persuasion" to get the city to pass a law banning racial discrimination in the sale or rental of housing property.

The march will occur about the time the Derby-eve crowd exits from Churchill Downs, also in the southern part of Louisville. If police approve the marchers' application for a parade permit, they must supply enough officers to keep order and reroute traffic.

If the permit is denied, a spokesman said the group would march anyway. The marchers then would face arrests for violating a recent court injunction banning night marches and marches without permits.

The group will assemble at Wyandotte Park for a seven-block march to the Downs. Wyandotte is the area where two weeks ago marchers met up to 1,000 white hecklers who threw bricks, bottles and rocks. Police made a total of 500 arrests. The marchers apparently will not enter the Churchill Downs grounds.

There were these other developments Thursday: Officials said policemen and National Guardsmen will number about 300 more than usual for the Kentucky Derby Saturday. Gov. Edward T. Breathitt said, "I cannot believe that the cause of open housing or any other facet of civil rights could be helped by demonstrations at Churchill Downs."

The National Committee against Discrimination in Housing announced it is demanding that the federal government deny Louisville funds related to urban renewal, housing projects, and the model city program unless the city's aldermen pass an open housing ordinance.

Negro leaders have promised some demonstration on Derby day, but have not said what form it will take.

WILLIAM V. SHANNON

Times Writer Is D&H Historical Speaker May 21

An editorial page writer for the New York Times, William V. Shannon, will be the featured speaker at the first annual dinner meeting of the D&H Canal Historical Society Sunday night, May 21, at Ski-Minne.

Shannon, in his writings, specializes in conservation and politics.

Prior to joining the Times Editorial Board in 1964, Shannon wrote a three-times-a-week column on national affairs for the New York Post. He has also contributed articles to national magazines — The Reporter, among others. His books include The Truman Merry-Go-Round (with R. S. Allen), and the American Irish, published in 1964. The latter is regarded as the definitive work on the subject.

His talk, titled How New is the New Conservation?, will cover the blossoming public awareness of the need to save what we have before it is too late, and some of the current issues and controversies arising from this awareness.

In addition to Shannon's address, the program will include discussions of plans for the coming year, reports of the past year's activities by committee heads, and election of officers.

Although the night's activities will center on topics of primary interest to society members, anyone interested in conservation or in community or historical activities is invited.

Ski-Minne, Inc. is located on US 44 (NY 55), a few miles east of Kerhonkson. Tickets are available from any officer or board member, or by writing D&H Canal Historical Society, Inc., High Falls, N. Y. 12440. Cocktail hour will be from 6 to 7, and dinner will be served at 7 p. m.

Says Union Killed Skilled Help Plan

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP)—The General Electric Co. charges that "antagonism" from the International Union of Electrical Workers caused the firm to shelve its plans to hire 100 skilled workmen from Great Britain.

A company spokesman gave that reason Thursday as GE announced it would drop its month-old proposal to bring in English workmen because, the company said, of a shortage of skilled workers here.

The move had been protested by IUE Local 301 in a letter to the U.S. Labor Department.

Meanwhile, John Shambo, business agent for the local, said GE's position in the matter was "sour grapes."

"Our fight was not with our English brothers, but with the General Electric Co.," Shambo said.

"The union's position was and still is that the company's action to import skilled workers from foreign countries before upgrading present employees was arbitrary, arrogant and unilateral," he asserted.

GE dropped the plan after a New York City meeting between officials of the firm and the union.

Censor Transcript

WASHINGTON (AP)—A congressman's observation during a closed-door hearing that he considered the South Vietnamese incapable of governing themselves was cut out by Defense Department censors before the hearing transcript was published.

And Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., the man who made the remark, wanted to know why.

In a transcript of hearings held in March by a House Appropriations subcommittee—but released only Wednesday night—Laird asked Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara what had become of the critical remark, uttered at a previous hearing.

Laird, commenting on the ability of the South Vietnamese to govern themselves, had said "I just don't think it's possible."

The deletion was made by the Security Review office of the Defense Department, which edits the testimony defense officials give at congressional hearings before the transcripts are released for public inspection.

Posters Disturbing

DETROIT (AP)—Police are looking into the appearance of printed posters appearing in several Detroit Negro neighborhoods.

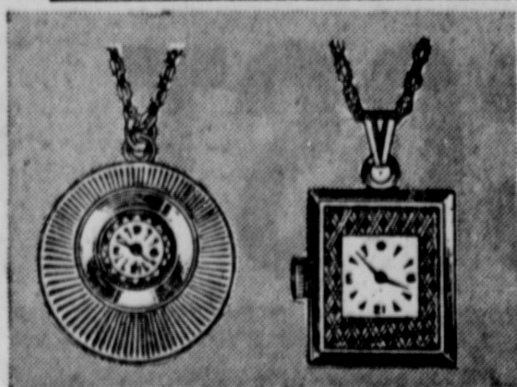

The posters read: "Unite or Perish," and "Join the Black Guard."

The Black Guard poster shows a picture of a black arm, with broken shackles on its wrist and a machine gun in its hand.

Police said they don't know what the Black Guard is.

Police Moonlighting Bill Signed by Rocky

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller has signed legislation permitting policemen throughout New York State to hold outside, part-time jobs, provided the work is approved by the local police department.

The governor announced Wednesday that he had signed the "moonlighting" bill, one of the 233 measures on which he acted Tuesday, the last day of the bi-signing period following the 1967 session of the Legislature.

Pressed for Passage

Many police organizations had pressed for approval of the bill, especially in New York City, where many policemen work part-time as cab-drivers or security guards.

Rockefeller's approval of the bill brought a quick reaction from New York City Mayor John V. Lindsay, who said he was "disappointed and disturbed... especially in the fact of my strong recommendation that this bill be vetoed."

Lindsay said that the local police commissioner should have "unhindered authority to make adjustments as he sees fit and not mandated in any degree by the state Legislature."

The governor noted in a memorandum that the police employment law limits a policeman's outside work to 20 hours a week. In addition, police who "moonlight" will have to make certain they are available for emergency duty on their police jobs.

Expresses Confidence

Rockefeller said he is "confident that the provisions of this bill can be successfully implemented to assure policemen the same opportunities for outside employment now afforded most other public employees, while fully protecting the general public."

The governor also announced Wednesday he had vetoed:

—A bill that would have increased from three months to four years the maximum jail sentence for turning in a false fire alarm resulting in an injury or death. Rockefeller said the bill had technical defects.

—A measure that would have limited tourists returning from abroad to bring in only one quart of liquor free of state tax. The law now allows one gallon free of state tax, although federal tax must be paid on anything beyond a quart.

—A bill that would have required a physician's prescription to buy cough syrup containing even minor amounts of codeine, opium or other addictive drugs. Rockefeller noted that health officers generally agree that the small amount of drugs in such syrups exempt them from the prescription requirement.

Was Ambiguous

—A measure that would have prohibited retail stores from employing optometrists to dispense eyeglasses to customers, because the bill contained many "conflicting and ambiguous" provisions.

—A bill that would have raised, by Oct. 1, the general speed limit on New York State highways from 50 to 55 miles an hour. Rockefeller said the effective date did not allow enough time to determine whether the higher speed might be hazardous on a particular road or to erect new speed limit signs.

At the same time, Rockefeller signed legislation:

—Expanding the powers of regional school boards to provide vocational educational programs. The Boards of Cooperative Educational Services will be able to buy property and erect special school buildings, under contract with the State Dormitory Authority.

—Permitting motorists to plead "not guilty" to traffic violations by mail. Such motorists will have to mail a signed statement to the court within 48 hours of the alleged violation, and the judge then would schedule a trial.

—Authorizing New York State to join with Pennsylvania and Maryland in a Susquehanna River Basin Compact to coordinate conservation efforts in the basin.

—Implementing a State Constitutional amendment that cut the residence requirement for voting in elections in this state from one year to three months. This amendment was approved by the electorate in last November's election.

Weight Watch Founder to Speak in Area

"How to eat properly and win the battle of the bulge."

That will be the topic of Mrs. Jean Nidetch of Little Neck, founder and director of Weight Watchers International, Inc., during a lecture May 15 at Grossinger's.

Members of the local Weight Watchers, who meet twice each week at the Jewish Community Center, are invited to the lecture slated for 8 p. m. The public also is invited.

Weight Watchers, now boasting a membership of roughly 500,000, were organized in the basement of Mrs. Nidetch's home and attended by six "big" women who were determined to get rid of their excess poundage. The group has branches in 16 states as well as in London and Tel Aviv, Israel.

The group is celebrating its fourth anniversary this month and Mrs. Nidetch's topic at the Grossinger event, will be given, appropriately enough, just after dinner at the famed Catskill resort.

The local WW group meets Monday and Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. and 10 a. m. respectively.

ROCHESTER (AP) — Robert Donnelly, 53, of Rochester, died early today in Strong Memorial Hospital here of burns suffered April 4 in a fire at his home. He lived at 400 Broad St.

7th Warders Meet Tuesday On Rehab Work

Community improvement will be discussed at a second meeting of the Seventh Ward Civic Organization to be held May 9 at 7:30 p. m. in quarters of Trinity Methodist Church, 33 Wurts Street.

It was noted after the first session at Rapid Hose engine house that Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan will support efforts of any group which "is to act as a citizens' committee for community improvement."

A first phase of rehabilitation of the west side of Broadway, mainly in the Seventh Ward, is to be taken by the city which will raze decadent buildings on city-owned properties.

Building Inspector George E. Radcliffe has been working with the mayor in preparing a workable program that will be eligible for federal aid, and Joseph Saccoman, housing code inspector, is in charge of the rehabilitation work. He noted that the first meeting of the Seventh Ward group brought "encouraging results."

NEW YORK (AP) — Two January 1967 are eligible to vote.

The referendum was brought about when the Eastern Milk Producers Federation opposed the proposed price increase as "unrealistic" and demanded a larger increase.

The boost was to have taken effect May 1, and Pollard said dairy farmers will lose about $924,000 in May because the raise would not become effective this month.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MAY 5, 1967

UNDERSTANDING THE WAR

Because President Johnson and his chief advisers on the war in Vietnam, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, were concerned with politics as well as the success of their great venture, a huge credibility gap had grown about their war utterances. President Johnson was wise to bring General William C. Westmoreland, the American commander in Vietnam, to speak directly to the American people through his address to a joint session of Congress.

There was no if or ands about Westmoreland's speech. It was simple, direct and clear. An assembly of both houses of Congress, the Cabinet and the diplomatic corps heard and applauded it. It was the first time a commander had been brought back to address Congress, and through them, brief the American people.

Three of the most articulate Congressional critics of the war—Senator J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, Senator Robert F. Kennedy of New York and Senator George S. McGovern of South Dakota, all Democrats, sat in the front row in sight of the General. Their presence did not phase him.

He had a job to do and he did it brilliantly. His job was to enhance public understanding of the war. He began the process with his address to the American newspaper publishers the first of the week, when he warned that protests against the war prolonged the fighting. Then he spoke to the legislature in his home state of South Carolina. Finally, before Congress, he wound up his report to the nation, when he warned that the enemy believes our Achilles heel is our resolve to fight.

"Backed at home by resolve, confidence, patience, determination and continued support, we will prevail in Vietnam over the Communist aggressor," General Westmoreland promised the Congress and the American people. It is up to us now to back our men serving their country in Vietnam to help them prevail.

A NATION ON WHEELS

How much the United States is a nation on wheels is emphasized in the annual report of the Automobile Manufacturers Association.

At the end of 1966, there were 78,315,000 passenger cars on the road, 15,514,000 trucks and 350,000 buses. They set a record of 932 billion miles traveled over 3.7 million miles of road in the country. The record is the equivalent of two million round trips between earth and moon.

More than 12 million of the 56.2 million families who own passenger cars—79 per cent of all families in the United States—own more than one vehicle. The democracy of car ownership is shown in the fact that all but two million of those who own automobiles have incomes of less than $15,000 a year. The classification between the $7,500 and $9,999 range was the single largest car-owning classification with 10.2 million car owners, of whom 30 per cent owned more than one car.

As might be expected in a manufacturers report, there were statistics about the enormous amount of gasoline and diesel fuel used, 75 billion gallons; the $3 billion in tax revenue paid by motorists to the Federal government last year and $4.7 billion to state governments; and the 800,000 businesses, one in every six in the country, which are automotive in nature, employing 13 million persons.

Comfort and convenience were demanded by car buyers, but the report does not reflect the intense interest in safety which the Federal government is spearheading. When these features are installed in the new model cars, we should have reports that motorists are demanding safety, too.

DISCOUNTS FOR THE AGED

Discounts for transit rides and recreation are in effect for the aged in Detroit, Cleveland, Los Angeles and Lansing, Mich. New York is also considering cut rate fares for them. The plan may spread across the nation as its advantages, not alone to the aged, are recognized.

Detroit began giving transit discounts to the aged in 1956. About 25,000 riders daily use the reduced fare, 4 per cent of the system's daily riders. They get a small yellow card with their photograph on it for identification. They show this to the bus driver when they deposit 10-cent fares from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. and from 7 p. m. through midnight 6 days a week and all day Sunday. Regular fare is 25 cents.

The identification cards are also honored in Detroit to get reduced admissions to ball games on special days each season and for discounts at movie theaters during slack hours. Some thought has also been given to honoring the card for discounts on merchandise for the aged.

People with $47-to-$50-a-month incomes could not use the buses or enjoy recreation facilities without the discount card. General use of it elsewhere will ease the golden years for millions of aged.

Humphrey Now Is Leading Kennedy

WASHINGTON—The decline of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy in public favor and the collateral rise of Vice-President Hubert H. Humphrey that are now confirmed by the polls has a significance far deeper than a mere check in the fortunes of the one and an encouragement to the prospects of the other.

When pollster Louis Harris finds that Humphrey now leads Kennedy in public preference for the Vice-Presidency by 51 to 49 per cent, whereas last November it was Kennedy who had led, by 61 to 39 per cent, the implications are incomparably bigger than either man.

For the central meaning rising here goes far beyond personalities. It is a signal that the violent and essentially irresponsible brand of pacifist-minded liberalism of the left wing in America—a left wing, parenthetically, that has never until comparatively recently been Senator Kennedy's home—has been instinctively rejected by the country at large.

Harris's own interpretation is that the great turnaround is "due almost exclusively" to the circumstances that the Vice-President has been a faithful supporter of a firm and spokesmen for a firm military resistance to the Communist invasion of South Vietnam. Though this undoubtedly is one fact of the business, it is by no means the only fact.

In a deeper sense, what has happened negatively to Kennedy and positively to Humphrey reflects two profound realities of current American politics.

The first of these is that the nation understands that the chief duty—and the great burden—of the Presidency in our days has become simply the protection of the national security. The care and nurture of a bipartisan policy of strength against Communist expansionism has been settled national doctrine through four Administrations—Harry Truman's, Dwight Eisenhower's, John Kennedy's and now Lyndon Johnson's.

Sen. Robert Kennedy, whatever his purpose and however high his sincerity may be, has long since departed from that concept and from the concept of the second of these realities is that though the term "consensus" has become a bad word to the ultra-liberals, it is all the same the rock foundation of all successful national political action and of all successful political careers.

Examine the position for a moment and the truth of this estimate becomes demonstrable. For Humphrey is gaining, and Kennedy is losing, mainly conservatively-inclined voters who on purely domestic issues do not really care for either of them. Measured on domestic yardsticks, there is little difference between Humphrey's views and Kennedy's views.

Each is all out for civil rights, and also far from eager to denounce extremist civil rights forces whose advocacy carries them repeatedly into what are clearly civil wrongs. Each is a ready recruit for welfare spending. Each directs his appeal to, and stakes his future upon, the urban masses—who are, incidentally, so often alleged by Vietnam war critics to be hostile to a strong posture in Vietnam.

What comes through it all is about this: The generality of the country is prepared to accept and perhaps even to praise moderate reforms in the domestic arena. But its attitude here is at best absent-minded, and it will not in any case elevate to the Presidency any politician so preoccupied by this aspect of national life that he is prepared to turn his face away from the hard, first duty to guard the world in general against the incursions of military Communist imperialism.

Specifically, Senator Kennedy's association with the soft-line Senate forces in Vietnam is beginning to isolate him in the country within a narrowing public circle, as it had already isolated him within a far more narrow circle. All this is not to say that the American public enjoys the war in Vietnam or that it prefers to center its concern upon foreign affairs. Almost certainly by the reverse is true.

But what it does mean is that the American public, however reluctantly and however sadly, has learned that wishes here are not horses one can ride and that the tide of history has implacably summoned this country to take up the anti-Communist leadership, with all its pains and perils, simply because no other nation is remotely capable of carrying the load.

Henry J. Taylor Says

Welfare Program Must Be Decent Solvent

The War on Poverty has now bureaucratized itself to include 150 Washington bureaus and 170 separate programs in its confusions. We applaud the spangled acrobat who circles the ring standing on the backs of two horses. This acrobat stands on 150.

Is the war a war or is it a racket?

The politicians pour out the alibis while we taxpayers pour in the money. But the relief rolls are not decreasing. They are increasing. New York City alone now lists 448,000 on relief, some for the second and third generation. The estimate for next year is 760,000.

The nationwide effect of politics, vote-buying and special favors to pressure groups is tragically obvious. But, in addition, much of the mess is due to what Health, Education and Welfare chief John W. Gardner calls "How to reach a decision without really deciding."

He means putting through a series of clearances, and letting the bureaucratic clearance process decide it; take a public poll and let the poll settle it; devise elaborate statistical systems, hoping that from them will come an endorsement for one course of action rather than another.

The Medicare law is already creating more problems than it will solve, and its cost is more than double the Washington estimate stated to the voters.

The Job Corps? Rep. Robert H. Michel (R., Ill.) has revealed that each youngster guided through his first full year costs the taxpayers $275,000. A total 1,061 were graduated. Of these 515 found jobs, 357 entered the armed forces, 187 are back in school. The bill to the taxpayers was $287 million—or $270,908 per graduate! Meanwhile, 80 cents of each dollar for Appalachia is being spent to build highways to bring job opportunities where none exist.

Alibi—champion Sargent Shriver's former Job Corps advisor, Francis Purcell, contributes light versus Shriver's heat in testifying to a House subcommittee: "There wasn't sufficient planning. The Job Corps officials did not understand the nature of the people they would deal with. This led to what I regard as the failure of the program."

We cannot go on like this. We must restore our welfare programs to decency and solvency.

The enormity of the problems make them look completely unmanageable. This is not necessarily true. I am not that pessimistic about the solutions. But the fundamental correction requires brainpower instead of the easy emphasis on dollars.

If you are going to eat an elephant you must first cut it up into pieces. Similarly, the component parts of the welfare problems must be clearly identified.

For example, economic dependency's component parts reflect a mixture of poor health and worse housing, needed schooling, ethnic factors, overpopulation and the amazing shift in population. Formerly the South was the heartland of the Negro. Today more than 75 per cent of the Negro population is in the North. And the majority of the nation's poor are Negroes.

Claim Any European Wars
Would Involve A-Weapons

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—The chief military officers of the United States now predict that, if a major war breaks out in Europe, it will be fought with nuclear weapons and that this country will immediately become involved and be subject to nuclear attack.

This bleak prophecy could have a salutary effect. It could bring the Soviet Union and other nations of the world to the conference table to agree on an effective means of checkmating the use of nuclear power.

The American people read on Wednesday morning an announcement that the United States will withdraw 35,000 troops from Europe. This means an obvious weakening of the American ground forces on that continent. But, on the same day, a subcommittee of the committee on Appropriations of the House of Representatives released a censored transcript of testimony given on March 6 by General Earl Wheeler. It quotes the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff as challenging the recommendation of Secretary of Defense McNamara against appropriating funds for the deployment of the Nike-X anti-ballistic-missile system. This is the fact—at last officially confirmed—that there is no realistic plan to defend western Europe by a large army of ground troops or against Soviet missiles. Instead, the 7,000 nuclear warheads stacked up in Europe will be utilized by a relatively small force for a limited defense, and, if necessary, to damage the territory of an aggressor. This in turn could mean a Soviet strike against the American continent. A major war with maximum nuclear power would then become inevitable.

While airlifts by jet planes could put a large number of American troops back into Europe in a short time, dependence is going to be placed in the interim on a small force of ground troops.

The new developments mean that the United States will have to spend more billions of dollars in order to make it possible for a substantial number of Americans to survive in the case of a nuclear attack. General Wheeler's reasoning is frankly expressed. He points out that two years ago the Joint Chiefs of Staff unanimously recommended deployment of Nike-X, which would mean a counter to the anti-ballistic-missile system around Moscow and in other parts of the Soviet Union. He declares that the Soviets are trying to reduce America's confidence in its ability to penetrate Soviet defenses, "thereby reducing the possibility that the United States would undertake a preemptive first strike against the Soviet Union, even under extreme provocation."

He says: "We believe that the Soviet offensive and defensive buildup does increase the risk of nuclear war."

"Should the Soviets come to believe that their ballistic missile defense, coupled with a nuclear attack on the United States, would limit damage to the Soviet Union to a level acceptable to them, whatever that level is, our forces would no longer deter. The first principle of our security policy would be gone."

"The 30, 40, or 50 million American lives that could be saved by Nike-X, therefore, are meaningful, we believe, in every sense of the word.

"Accordingly, Mr. Chairman, the recommendation of the joint chiefs that we now initiate deployment of Nike-X is based fundamentally on the requirement to maintain the total strategic nuclear capability or balance clearly in favor of the United States."

What the chairman of the joint chiefs argues is that nuclear balance could be stabilized. He adds that, in view of the Joint Chiefs' "regardless of anyone's feelings about the situation in Vietnam," it is "quite clear that we would have had even more hesitation in deploying our forces there, had the strategic nuclear balance not been in our favor."

To preserve the nuclear balance, of course, means huge expenditures, both for the Soviet Union and the United States.

The facts now coming out emphasize that the most acute issue before the world is the necessity for an agreement limiting nuclear power hereafter and assuring some effective system of mutual inspection so that agreements will not be violated.

DO YOU REMEMBER

April of 1967 stays very cold, around 40 degrees, so everything is slow in flowering, and the colder nights harm the flowers. I see the violets beginning to come out, but only their tiny leaves are showing so far. Then will come four or five warm spring days and everything will bloom at one time. We really seem to have a very short warm season. I remember years ago, we seemed to have long hot summers, good for swimming, and we all looked forward to high tide in the afternoon, so we could go to the beach.

Mayor Raymond W. Garrahan has made a new wide road right to the beach, and much of the swamp is covered with brick bats, and I think you can drive right to the water level at one time. We really seem to have a very short warm season. I remember years ago, we seemed to have long hot summers, good for swimming, and we all looked forward to high tide in the afternoon, so we could go to the beach.

From time to time I have been shown toys and dolls in rocking-chairs and have been told, that those toys were used by three generations. How did such fragile toys withstand time and usage by young people. Is 1967 an age of destroyers? There is so much talk of culture, and much earlier age for school children. What happened? We had parks in our time. We knew they belonged to the city and were for our use, no one dared to write on walls, or in any way destroy public property.

From time to time I look through a book called Our Catskill Mountains by H. A. Haring published in 1931. He tells about the "observer" of the tower whose job it is to watch for fires day and night. In this 1931 book, the observer teaches folks how to make heat for their cook-out. They do not have to have a bonfire to cook a meal, but build a small fire between two stones, the whole thing smaller than a hat. The flame will then be directly under the coffee pot, not trying to heat up all outdoors, and the food will be cooked properly, and not charred like cinders. Then he advises to allow this small fire to die down entirely.

An old timer was telling me the other day, as he stood at the corner of Mill and Broadway to take pictures of our passing scene of Rondout that used to cross the Skillpuit to come a school in Kingston. He lives on the Port Ewen side, and says that often strangers seeing the Rondout Creek think it is the Hudson River, because of its width. One thinks of a creek as very shallow and narrow. In fact, he said he heard that when the state was thinking of building the Rondout Creek Bridge, and the large amount was mentioned, some were opposed to spend so much on a bridge over a creek. Those who wanted the bridge would call it Rondout River, and it took many years from the time it was talked about until the bridge was ready for travel.

I heard part of the talk by Salvatore Mondella on John Vanderlyn and Kingston, at the Ulster County Court House, in Kingston. He intends to write a book on Vanderlyn, and is now studying all the correspondence of Vanderlyn from which he quoted "I want to go to great detail about Vanderlyn's panoramas and other paintings."

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The convention this weekend of the National Federation of Republican Women in Washington, D. C., should provide some inkling about the possibility for G. O. P. unity in 1968.

The betting as of the moment of writing, is that unity is going to prove most elusive. One trouble would seem to be that the male elders of the Republican Party are making a fetish of "too much, too soon": they just won't let the subsidiary and supporting party organizations fight out their internal fights alone. Just as Senator Hugh Scott's group has not been able to keep hands out of the affairs of the Young Republicans, so Nelson Rockefeller's adherents went out of their way last January in New Orleans to influence the Republican Women in their choice of a nominating committee. This has created bad blood. Actually, the nominating committee has not selected "far-out" liberals for its slate of officers for 1967-68. But, in passing over Mrs. Phyllis Schlafly, the Federation's incumbent First Vice President from Alton, Illinois, in order to name Mrs. Gladys O'Donnell of Long Beach, California, for President, the effect was to outrage the stalwart army that had worked so hard in 1964 for Barry Goldwater.

The conservatives feel that they are being asked to be good sports by a group which, so they insist, does not know the meaning of sportsmanship. Why, they ask, shouldn't they have the right to nominate Phyllis Schlafly from the floor without getting all those cracks about "sundering" the party? In a democratic organization why shouldn't there be two candidates for President? A prominent Schlafly supporter says that "Phyllis is really the goat for all the conservatives. She's bleeding for all of us who worked for Goldwater."

The Schlafly group, with strong roots in California, Illinois, Ohio, and the South, is evidently not going to accept goathood without a real fight. The president of the Alabama Federation of Republican Women, Mrs. John B. Ames, has been circulating a protest against "unfair and divisive tactics" which, allegedly, have been "employed by the nominating committee's candidate for President." "Bobbie" Ames puts special stress on her contention that the 1967 Convention "call" was rigged to exclude Article VI, Section 1 (c) of the Federation by-laws which provides that "Nominations may also be from the floor." "Suppression of these key words," says Mrs. Ames, "gives the false impression that we must accept the nominating committee's candidates."

It is impossible to predict the outcome of the women's voting but the Schlafly forces are organizing for a battle royal. The leadership in the Schlafly push comes from Mrs. Gladys O'Donnell's own state of California. Ann Bowler, the president of the California Federation of Republican Women, plans to make the nominating speech for Mrs. Schlafly.

The O'Donnell forces have resented the implication that they are trying to "purge" the Women's Federation of its "western conservative wing." They argue that Mrs. O'Donnell was an early supporter of both Senator George Murphy and Governor Ronald Reagan, and that she worked hard for Goldwater in 1964. They also insist that she was a Taft partisan in 1952 despite the fact that she was a member of the California delegation that cast its unit vote in the presidential convention for Earl Warren. Ideology, says the O'Donnell backers, has nothing to do with the current fight in the Women's Federation.

But if this is so, why has the fight been allowed to become so bitter? Something is wrong with the internal workings of an organization that will not allow peaceful balloting for any number of legitimate candidates without incurring the wrath of "headquarters," and without drawing dubious attention from outsiders with special axes to grind.

If every separate Republican Women's Federation club with twenty-five members or more sends a delegate to Washington to vote this week-end, it could be a bedlam of thousands of separate clashing individuals. Much will depend on the ability of Middle and Far Western delegates to finance expensive jet trips. This points to another criticism of procedure. When a party organization divides along geographical as well as philosophical lines, the proper place for a convention is at some midway point. St. Louis would have been too close to Mrs. Schlafly's home in Illinois, but there was no call to shift the convention all the way east from its originally scheduled site in Los Angeles.

Dear Heloise:
To save a few pennies on spray starch... I never starch the tails of my boys' shirts (the part that's tucked inside the trousers).
Of course, this wouldn't mean much if I had only two or three to do each week, but I iron 20 or more weekly and it adds up in the long run.
I iron the tails carefully—but just omit the starch. Jackie

That's real good thinking, I'd say.

What a very pretty green plant they made! Mrs. J. S. Board
Why not try parsnips and turnip tops just as we did the carrots?
Cut off the top ends, leaving about one-fourth inch of the vegetable. Place the cut side down in a bowl of shallow water and watch 'em produce beautiful ferns. Heloise

Dear Heloise:
Since our budget didn't allow for a bathinette, I looked around for a substitute and found a perfect one:
We bought an inexpensive, two-tiered utility cart, and put

Entrepreneurs 'Go Desolate'

By BETTY CANARY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Today I got an invitation to attend a Zen benefit in California from a friend. Unfortunately, I won't be able to make the scene.

The poster card she sent was well... unusual. It features a black and red line drawing of a wolf. Balanced on his nose is a crescent moon; he is wearing some sort of bangle bracelets on his forepaws, and superimposed on the abdomen is a photograph of a man having his hand gnawed by a huge dog. The invitation is to a poetry reading.

Somehow I have the feeling this is not going to be exactly the kind of Poetry and Music Afternoon my Aunt Margaret used to give. She would have several ladies over and they would read choice excerpts from things like "Ode to a Grecian Urn" and listen to some Caruso records on the Victrola and eat cream cheese and raisin bread.

Well, after I gave the invitation to two college kids I know, I was a bit startled when they told me they not only were going to attend, but would take an orange crate and set up a show outside the auditorium.

They want to market a new item they have designed. They call it The Do-It-Yourself Flip-and-Trip Kit.

And some say free enterprise is dead!
Included in the kit will be a couple of marihuana cigarettes (weeds), and, of course, some LSD-treated sugar cubes. They plan on adding a variety of contraceptive devices in an envelope marked: "You Be the Judge!"

Then, there will be some incense, a jar of bubbles, a packet of morning glory seeds and an etching of Sonja Henie attacking ing Vera Hruba Ralston with a rusty ice skate.

The boys say they have some tricky lingo with titles such as "Reach Dharma Alone!" "Defile Thyself!", and "Go Desolate!"

If they get enough buyers after the show, they plan on advertising and offering the kit mail order. They may include a switchblade or a pistol.

Well, these kids make me realize once again how I've been caught between generations. I used to squirm when I had to get all dressed up in my pleated organdy and go to Aunt M's. And, I know I'd squirm just as much in boots and dirty jeans at this Zen do.

I just don't dig the sound of The Canned Heat Blues Band.

BOCES Expansion

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller said today he had approved legislation to expand the powers of regional school boards established to provide vocational education.

Under terms of the law, Boards of Cooperative Educational Services are authorized to buy property and build schools, subject to approval of the voters in the area served by the board. Each board also is empowered to contract with the State Dormitory Authority for construction of necessary facilities, which the Authority would then lease to the boards.

The new legislation was designed to permit school districts to unite to meet what the governor called the increased need for comprehensive vocational and other educational programs. Another Rockefeller proposal to establish about 45 master school districts to provide vocational training died in the Assembly this year after winning Senate approval.

Pastor Can't Live by Thanks Alone

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Recently one identified as "Knows Not" questioned you as to the correct way to acknowledge appreciation to a pastor who performed burial services for one not of his congregation. You replied, "Offer the pastor a gift of money, or make a donation to his church."

Abby, offering a pastor money for services rendered fulfilling his "call of God" would be an insult to his integrity as a minister.

A silent prayer of thanksgiving to God that this pastor was available would have been thank enough.

THE REVEREND D. in Columbus Ga.

DEAR REVEREND D.: I did not mean to "insult" anyone. While many fine men are "called by God" to serve in the pulpit, if they do not pay their bills, they also may be "called" by the credit bureau. A pastor, as any other man, must feed and clothe his family. And "a silent prayer of thanksgiving for services rendered will not go far at the grocery store."

DEAR ABBY: Yesterday, while helping my fiancée's mother with some ironing, I discovered that she actually irons Sheldon's shorts. I think this is utterly ridiculous as no one is going to see his underwear, but me, and I certainly don't mind if his shorts are wrinkled—but I do mind ironing them.

I would appreciate an answer because I am afraid this could create an argument sooner or later. I love Sheldon, but I can't see much sense in arguing about an unironed pair of shorts. SHELDON'S GIRL

DEAR GIRL: Neither can I. So ask Sheldon if his mother irons his shorts because she wants to or because he likes them that way. If he likes them that way, then you go ahead and iron them, too, and don't press your luck.

DEAR ABBY: My 15-year-old daughter has recently started to babysit and seemed to enjoy it very much. This woman used to call her at least once a week, but now the calls have stopped for no apparent reason, and it is bothering my daughter. I may be wrong, but I told my daughter she should call up the woman and ask her if she did something wrong. My daughter is very shy and doesn't want to call her. Would it be proper for me to call the woman and ask? I'm sure my daughter would feel better knowing, than just wondering. HER MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Don't you call, and don't urge your daughter to. But suggest instead that she forget it and cast around for another babysitting job.

CONFIDENTIAL TO: "One Happy Couple." If you accept the baby without consulting a lawyer who will protect you against possible disappointment later (not to mention a kidnapping charge), you should both have your happy heads examined.

How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal, unpublished reply, enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

In Bridge Raid

SAIGON (AP)—Navv Cmdr. Ernest Sevmour of Syracuse, N.Y., flew in an attack Wednesday on a bridge in the Vinh area, 160 miles south of Hanoi, North Vietnam, the Navy reported.

"We dropped in under a thunderstorm and let a flare go. I saw one of the pilot's bombs hit the bridge but the flare...burned out before I could see the results," he said.

Asks Summer Jobs Be Opened In Slum Areas

NEW YORK (AP)—Mayor John V. Lindsay today asked every businessman in the city to provide at least one summer job for youths living in slum areas. Lindsay noted that he had created a 28-member summer task force last month and a citizens' summer committee to help keep the summer a "cool" one.

Part of the committee's work is to provide jobs and raise funds for the operation of special summer projects in the city's ghetto areas.

Lindsay told businessmen: "If you have more than one employment opportunity the City of New York would be grateful to an even greater degree. Tens of thousands of youth will be in the streets this summer with nothing to do."

"These youth will shortly finish school and enter the labor market. This is your chance to give them the experience they will need later in life."

Pact Approved For Truckers

CHICAGO (AP) — A renegotiated contract for 500,000 truck drivers across the nation was approved Thursday night. The pact could end the 11-day strike, lockout of more than 45,000 drivers which has crippled freight transportation in the Chicago area.

Frank Fitzsimmons, acting president of the Teamsters Union, said he was confident that Chicago truck drivers would be back to work by Monday.

1-Man Rule Over

Announcement of the reworked contract came amid published reports that control of the Teamsters has been shifted from the national headquarters back to local leaders, ending one-man rule of the powerful labor organization.

The revolt against the system established by James R. Hoffa, now serving an eight-year term in federal prison, was reported by the Los Angeles Times in a story from its Chicago bureau. It means the 1.8-million member union is returning to its historic fragmented power structure.

The decision reportedly was voted by the union's general executive board during a secret session Thursday in Chicago.

Fitzsimmons, emerging from a bargaining session with negotiators for the trucking industry, said the new contract will be submitted to union members across the country for a mailed vote.

The renegotiated agreement supersedes a national pact agreed on April 12.

Ratification of the April 12 agreement was stalled by the walkout of Chicago Teamsters Local 705 and the independent Chicago Truck Drivers Union.

The national pact called for a 70-cent hourly package over a three-year span and Chicago drivers were demanding a 90-cent package.

Money, Benefits

Fitzsimmons said the new agreement could give long-haul drivers as much as 78 cents an hour over the next three years.

He said the contract includes 55 cents in "hard money," an improved cost of living plan and other benefits including vacations and a two-day funeral leave.

It is estimated that about 400,000 new settlers cross California's borders each year.

MARITIME DAY, May 22, will highlight the American Merchant Marine and its importance to the nation's trade and defense. Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan, affixing sign, and Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk, along with varied civic leaders, joined in placing the first 1967 National Maritime Day poster on the city's mail trucks. Mayor Garraghan saluted the Merchant Marine, "for its continued contribution to the American economy and to the security not only to all Americans, but of the free world." (Freeman photo by Wagenfahr.)

One Delegate's Viewpoint

A CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION REPORT by S. James Matthews

The proposition extending the term, if passed by the convention and voted upon favorably by the people would eliminate some of the most frequently cited reasons for not seeking the office. Campaign time spent away from the family would be reduced to every four years rather than every two.

This might not appear to be that much of a factor until one pauses to realize that legislative duties in Albany also takes them from home for a long period of time each year. Financial expenses would be cut in half.

Historical Background The Constitution of New York used to provide for a four-year term. This was changed by the Convention of 1846.

As we all know, the United States Constitution provides for a six-year term for the upper house of Congress. It is surprising to note, therefore, that in 1941 when the people of New York were asked to extend the term of state senator to four years in a measure similar to the present proposition before the convention, that it was defeated 880,684 against, while 588,894 favored the idea.

Have we changed in attitude in the past quarter of a century? I wish I knew!

Of course, if there are such features that could affect all our work, one would have to consider them and weigh the measure from that viewpoint as well as from the desirability as a governmental innovation. The silence of the delegate's constituents pretty much places him on his own.

In my mind, the extension of the term of office for a state senator from two to four years is desirable. A less drastic turnover in the senate probably would result.

Studies have revealed that one of the basic weaknesses of state legislatures is the too-rapid attrition in office holders. The pressure of too frequent political campaigns has often been cited by the legislator as a reason for not seeking re-election.

The expense of modern day elections, of course, is a contributing factor to the decision not to run again. It obviously is also a reason why many qualified persons don't seek legislative office in the first place.

Policano, Two Others Given Liberals' OK

It was inadvertently reported earlier this week that Joseph Policano, Democratic candidate for councilman in the designated Second District, was not endorsed by the Liberal Party.

Stephan Korchowsky, Liberal Party county chairman, said he failed to mention that Florence Shea Ludlow, of the Second District also received councilmanic endorsement, as did Stanley Petro in the Third District.

Acquisition Vetoed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board unanimously turns thumbs down on a move by the BT New York Corp. to acquire at least 80 per cent of the voting shares of the Liberty National Bank & Trust Co., Buffalo.

The board said Thursday the acquisition would substantially lessen competition. This effect, it added, was not clearly outweighed by public convenience and needs.

The federal agency's move was in opposition to the controller of currency and the State Banking Board, both of whom had recommended approval.

BT New York Corp. of Suffern, N.Y., the state's largest bank - holding company, began operations May 31, 1966, by acquiring four subsidiaries, whose 88 offices held total deposits of $4.7 billion last June 30.

Bridge Slam Could Have Been

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

South looked over the dummy with great care and remarked, "I'm sure glad we stopped at six. There is no play for seven."

"What about six?" asked North.

"Unless I am very unlucky, I'll make the slam replied South. Then he proceeded to draw trumps, cash the remaining high diamond and spades, ruff the last spade and lead a club from his hand. West followed with the deuce and South went up with dummy's ace. A club return disclosed the bad club break and South was down one.

Everyone at the table agreed that South had been unlucky and in one respect it was true. If clubs had broken 3-2 South would have made his contract. On the other hand there was no reason why he should not have made it in spite of the bad break. As long as all four trumps were not in the same hand South had a sure thing play at his disposal.

When West followed to the low club lead at trick nine all South had to do was to play dummy's nine spot. East would have been in with the ten, jack or queen. A spade or diamond return would give South a ruff and discard; a low club return would lose to South's eight while a high club return would run around to dummy's largest of the Pyramids.

Travel Gains On 5 Spans Over April '66

April traffic on the five Hudson River spans under control of the New York State Bridge Authority gained by 3.69 per cent over a year ago, including a 1.53 per cent gain on the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge, the authority noted today.

Revenue for the month was down, by 14.83 per cent compared to April, 1966 and this is due largely to toll reductions on the Newburgh-Beacon Bridge.

All spans clocked 1,111,183 compared to 1,071,682 a year ago. Last month's revenue total was $298,550.15 against $350,532.71 in April, 1966.

Traffic losses were noted on the Rip VanWinkle with totals of 114,941 and 116,412, a drop of 1.26 per cent, and the Mid-Hudson with 389,782 and 405,952, a loss of 3.98 per cent.

The Kingston Rhinecliff clocked 156,299 last month and 153,945 in 1966, the Newburgh-Beacon with a gain of 21.57 per cent clocked 301,225 vehicles last month against 247,771 a year ago, and totals on the Bear Mountain were 148,936 and 147,602.

KHS Teacher

Tucker Given Grant For Bucknell Study

Robert L. Tucker, teacher of English at Kingston High School since 1952 has been awarded a grant to take part in an N.D.E.A. Institute for advanced study in English to be conducted during the summer of 1967 by Bucknell University at Lewisburg, Pa.

The announcement of the award has been made by Harold E. Keator Jr., chairman of the Kingston Board of Education's public relations committee, who also has reported on other recent honors made to personnel of the City School System.

Restricted to 27

The Institute, authorized under Title II of the National Defense Education Act, is restricted to 27 teachers of the 11th and 12th grade English who are now engaged in teaching an advanced placement program. The Institute aims to improve the teacher's command of literature including criticism and methods of teaching through intensive courses of graduate quality.

Tucker received his Master's degree from Albany State, has been in the summer school reading program at Kingston High School since 1955. He is a member of the New York State English Council and past president of the Kingston Teachers' Federation. During the summer of 1965 he was one of four teachers who participated in the Language Arts Workshop at Vassar College conducted by the New York State Education Department.

Keator reports that Kingston City Schools Consolidated received a Certificate of Appreciation from the Save the Children Federation, which recognizes the efforts of the children and parents of the Kingston area who collected clothing for the needy children and underprivileged in disaster areas in the United States and free countries overseas. The collection of clothing is made usually in the Fall of the year. Kingston received a special commendation for the effort put forth this year.

The PR chairman also reports that the Human Growth Committee has initiated a series of meetings explaining the work completed to date. Members of the committee, Keator said, have discussed the philosophy of our sex education program with Parent-Teacher organizations at Tilton, and Brigham, No. 7 and George Washington Schools, and he noted that response to date has been "extremely favorable."

Notes Freeman Clips

Keator reports that the committee report contains 10 pages of press clippings which have appeared in The Kingston Daily Freeman in a three-week period. Keator expressed the appreciation and thanks of the committee to press representatives "for the comprehensive coverage" given the local educational community.

"While we are unable to make a record of the news items which are broadcast on radio," Keator said, "we do acknowledge and appreciate the radio coverage as well as the newspaper reporting." He said it is the aim of the Board of Education to do everything in its power to improve communication between the Board and the public.

In his report, Keator noted that the annual Kingston High School Choir concert will be held Friday and Saturday, May 12 and 13 at the high school auditorium starting at 8:15 p.m. The PR chairman said the concert affords an excellent opportunity for many people who have doubts about the present day teenagers and see what a well organized and highly motivated group these young people can accomplish. Tickets for the concert are available from any member of the choir or at the door the nights of the concert.

Keator has informed the Board of Education that Frieda L. Dingee, director of the Multi-Media Center, recently was awarded the State Achievement Award from Delta Kappa Gamma at the Pi State Convention held in West Hurley-ville. Delta Kappa Gamma, an honorary international society of outstanding women educators, gives the award to a member each year who has made a significant contribution to education and who has been active at the local, state and national levels. Mrs. Dingee was general chairman of the Pi State Convention which was hosted by her local Alpha Chapter.

In his report, Keator noted that Mrs. Connie Ottesen, school psychologist, was initiated into the Alpha Chapter of Pi State Organization of Delta Kappa Gamma.

Keator reports that schools in the district will close at the end of the session on Friday, May 26 and will reopen on Wednesday, May 31 to afford many people the opportunity to enjoy a long Memorial Day weekend.

Safety Awards To Be Given Monday Night

S. Cortland Wood, president, New York Trap Rock Corporation, will present awards at the Mid-Hudson Industrial Association's annual Safety Award banquet Monday night, May 8, at the Hellenic Center, Poughkeepsie, William K. Hayes, executive secretary, announced today.

The main speaker will be Bruce M. Lambert, a well-known after dinner raconteur who will speak on "Humor From the Hills." Grand Award winners from the Mid-Hudson area in the 42nd Annual State-wide Accident Prevention Campaign sponsored by Associated Industries of New York State are Love Oil Corporation and Shaker, Travis & Quinn, Inc., both of Poughkeepsie.

Special citations for accident-free participation in more than five consecutive annual campaigns will be awarded to the De Laval Separator Company, 13 years; Lansing-Broas Printing Co., Inc., 12 years; New York Telephone Company, Poughkeepsie Plant Maintenance Group, 9 years; Kem Plastic Playing Cards, Inc. and New York Telephone Company, Poughkeepsie Construction Department, 7 years each.

One hundred per cent awards, for each enrolled company completing this year's campaign without accident go to Allstate Design & Development Company, Inc., The Callanan Road Improvement Company, Kingston; The De Laval Separator Company; Lumb Woodworking Company, Inc.; New York Trap Rock Corporation, Clinton Point Plant; James L. Taylor Manufacturing Company; and Wire-O Corporation.

Winners of Certificates of Achievement are Hercules Corporation, Port Ewen Works; Weston Instruments, Inc.; and various facilities of the International Business Machines Corporation.

Predicts Stormy Rail Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the House Commerce Committee predicts a stormy session Tuesday when his panel takes up President Johnson's latest proposal to block a threatened nationwide rail strike.

"There is a lot of sentiment to make it stronger one way or another," Rep. Harley O. Staggers said today in an interview. Johnson proposed Thursday establishment of machinery to block any rail strike until at least 1969. His plan calls for creation of a five-member board to try mediating the shopcraft dispute, with a compulsory settlement to be invoked after 90 days if necessary.

The unions, which seek more pay from the nation's railroads, immediately announced they would oppose the President's proposal in Congress, denouncing it as compulsory arbitration. The railroads said they would not oppose the plan but favor amending federal law to deal with all such disputes, not just one.

Auto Safety Program

C. Richard Naylor, safety specialist with Nationwide Insurance Company, presented an automobile safety program at Kingston High School recently. Naylor presented a film to the assembled students and then demonstrated with an automobile, the braking distances required at various speeds. Jeanette Tweedy, Larry Flowers, students at KHS; John Coffey, Kingston police officer and Robert Stinemire, faculty member, drove the automobile during the various brakings tests. DeForest Wiles, local agent for Nationwide arranged for the demonstration.

Resnick Takes Rocky To Task Over 'Luni'

As had been expected, Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick (D-Elizaville) took umbrage today at Gov. Rockefeller's veto of the "Luni" bill that would have given foster parents permanent custody of a foster child who had lived in their home for more than two years.

Commenting on the veto of the legislation which had been prompted by the controversial adoption case locally involving Mr. and Mrs. Michael Luni of Tilton and 4-year-old Beth St. John Luni, Resnick took the governor to task with these words:

"Governor Rockefeller has vetoed the so-called 'Luni' bill that would have given foster parents preferential consideration in adoption proceedings involving children they would have had in their custody for over two years.

"This bill was originally introduced to overcome injustices published in the celebrated Luni adoption case in Kingston. The bill was supported and praised by many widely respected groups in the child welfare field, including the Adoptive Parents League. If this bill had been law, the Luni case would never have happened.

"I cannot accept the governor's reasons for vetoing this bill which was passed by a huge non-partisan majority in the legislature. Mr. Rockefeller says that the bill could have a serious and detrimental effect on adoption placement."

"This lame excuse is not supported by the facts. New Jersey has such a law and a bill made by me to the welfare commissioner of that state elicited the information that the law has had no detrimental effects at all on adoptions in that state."

"Resnick, who personally and officially battled for the cause of the Lunis, also made it clear that he felt it was important to note that the vetoed bill would not have made such foster adoptions mandatory, but would simply have given foster parents 'preferential status so they would not be forced to suffer the anguish that Mary and Michael Luni were put through."

"He insisted that the real reason behind the governor's veto was an 'attempt to placate professional social workers who object to any law that would remove or restrict any of the broad discretionary powers they presently enjoy.' He called Rockefeller's decision 'nothing less than a victory for bureaucracy at the expense of humane considerations."

Olive Hearing To Air Junkyard Ordinance

Town of Olive Board was visited by a delegation of taxpayers from the Boiceville area, at the meeting this week, protesting the practice of private property being used as a dumping site for trash and debris.

Peter Tosi, spokesman for the delegation, stated that this condition creates a health hazard, being a perfect haven for rodents, and it is a defacement. Tosi proposed an ordinance be introduced prohibiting such practice within the town, making offenders subject to fine.

Peace Justice Frank C. Carle recommended that a letter be forwarded immediately to the general contractor, presently making alterations at the Onteora Central School, with a copy to the Board of Education, that the contractor cease the practice of using this site as a means of disposing of waste.

Every boxholder in Olive recently received a card stating the hours that the town dump on Beaver Kill Road, Brown Station, is open. They are Monday, Thursday and Saturday from 12 noon to 8 p. m.; Sunday from 1 p. m. to 8 p. m.

Edgar Timmerman, attorney representing the town on revision of the equalization rate reported on progress made to date. He said Attorney John Lynch and he will meet with New York City Law Department representatives on May 10 to further discuss the problems involved.

Bills from the general and highway funds in the amounts of $1,433.32 and $421.93 respectively were paid by unanimous vote.

A motion was made by Councilman Wells and seconded by Councilman Marshall, authorizing Supervisor Lester Davis to apply for recreational funds from the state.

Justice Bradford Kelder brought to the attention of the board that acreage adjoining town property, owned by Evelyn Lang of West Shokan, is for sale. He suggested that it might be in the interest of the town to investigate the possibility of purchasing the property.

A resolution, made by Councilman Wells and seconded by Councilman Marshall, authorizing Justice Frank Carle to purchase a duplicating machine at the cost of $310, was approved.

The Joiners

The stated meeting of Mystic Lodge 82, Order of the Amaranth, will be held Monday at 8 p. m. at Masonic Temple, 31 Albany Avenue. This meeting is the reception for the Royal Matron Lillian Boice and Royal Patron Lemuel Boice. Mothers will also be honored at this meeting. All officers are requested to attend rehearsal Saturday, May 6, at 1:30 p. m. at the Masonic Temple.

Bell Favors Allen Rulings Court Review

M. Clark Bell, Constitutional Convention delegate from the 38th District of Dutchess and Ulster Counties, has introduced a proposition at the Constitutional Convention providing for judicial review of all final decisions of state department, board, bureau, authority and commission officials.

Under the present law, certain decisions by department and administrative officials are not subject to judicial review. One outstanding example is found in the Department of Education where the Commissioner of Education is immune to Court review. This means that final decisions made by the Commissioner of Education may not be challenged for correctness of fairness.

In introducing the proposition, Bell said: "I believe all public officials should be accountable for their actions and decisions, and every citizen should have the right to present his grievance before a fair, objective and impartial court. This proposition that I have introduced will guarantee the right of a judicial review in the Supreme Court of final decisions by state department, board, bureau, authority or commission officials. It will make our public officials accountable for their actions and decisions."

"I believe that such a right granted to the citizens of our State will end so-called administrative immunity for certain public officials and help create an atmosphere wherein government officials will be more responsive to the aspirations of the citizens of this State."

"All disputes concerning the validity of any district meeting or election or of any of the acts of the officers of such meeting or election should be referred to the Commissioner of Education for his determination and his decisions in the matter should be final and not subject to review."

Since the Commissioner may, at his discretion, order a new meeting or election, Epstein says he has made no final decision on plans to appeal, but is firm in his belief that there were many voters who were utterly confused and uncertain as to whether they were voting as they intended. Many have approached him, he said, to verify the fact that, as of now, they know definitely that they actually did vote differently from their intention.

Should Epstein appeal to Albany, he feels he would need, for reversal, a "reasonable number of certificates from voters saying they were confused and protesting in his behalf." Any action he takes will probably be dependent on his success in acquiring such statements or certificates. He says his attitude in the matter is based only on the "acceptance of the figures" and "does not imply agreement or disagreement with the election itself."

He notes, however, that any jurisdiction on the validation of the results is not within the board's province. The only question raised for trustees was what to do with the official canvass of votes which came before them Thursday night. In certifying the results, they were "acting as an agent," Epstein says, "and were obligated to accept the canvass as made by the officers as appointed by the board."

Former Pennsy Official Due At RR Hearing

By TOM CRANE

NEW YORK (AP) — Fred Carpi, former vice president of traffic for the Pennsylvania Railroad, was to take the witness stand today to rebut arguments by several small railroads that they should be assured of protection before the New Haven Railroad is linked to a projected Penn Central system.

Carpi, now retired and serving in a consultant capacity, was slated as a witness by Penn Central, the corporate giant which would emerge from the proposed coupling of the Pennsylvania and New York Central Railroads.

Harold S. Present, Interstate Commerce Commission examiner presiding over the hearing, listed Carpi as the probable second witness today.

The hearing which opened Jan. 16 is expected to end here next week. Oral arguments before the full ICC in Washington are scheduled June 15.

Present said Paul T. O'Keefe, a trustee of Webb and Knapp, was listed as the first witness of the day.

Onteora Vote Okayed Despite Two Protests

Despite the fact that two protests were filed by candidates in the Onteora Central Schools election for Board of Education members Wednesday, the board certified the election results in a special session Thursday night.

Protests lodged by incumbent candidate Herbert J. Epstein of Phenicia and Arthur Sampson of Olivebridge were disregarded by the board and trustees noted that any further appeal on their part would have to go to the State Education Department.

Sampson, who was defeated in a four-way race, protested that a candidate should be elected by a majority and not a plurality — and suggested a run-off between himself and the second place vote getter with 410 votes and Charles Newcomb of Woodstock, who won the seat with a total of 553 votes.

Sampson could not be reached for comment today on whether he will carry his appeal higher, but the law firm of Connelly and Connelly of Kingston, Attorneys for Onteora, advised the board that the State Education Law is very explicit on the question of whether a majority is required for election or whether a plurality suffices. The law says quite definitely that "a plurality is all that is required."

Epstein, on the other hand, lodged his protest with election supervisor Charles J. Tiano shortly after elections got underway Wednesday afternoon and filed an official protest before the voting machines were opened that night. His argument is that there was no satisfactory separation between the lines listing vacancies and candidates on the voting machine and that no differentiation was provided in the "type" used on the ballot, leading to confusion, Epstein feels, by the voters.

Epstein, who was defeated by Patrick Dodge of Shokan, 689-579, is seriously considering an appeal to the State Commissioner of Education on advice of counsel. He has been told, he says, that the certification action of the board Thursday night was "a ministerial act only in that the board has no jurisdiction to vote negatively."

He said the board was advised by its attorneys that even if it feels there was undue confusion, the board cannot set aside the election and order a new election. Section 2037 of the Education Law was quoted, he said, noting that it reads:

"All disputes concerning the validity of any district meeting or election or of any of the acts of the officers of such meeting or election should be referred to the Commissioner of Education for his determination and his decisions in the matter should be final and not subject to review."

Since the Commissioner may, at his discretion, order a new meeting or election, Epstein says he has made no final decision on plans to appeal, but is firm in his belief that there were many voters who were utterly confused and uncertain as to whether they were voting as they intended. Many have approached him, he said, to verify the fact that, as of now, they know definitely that they actually did vote differently from their intention.

Should Epstein appeal to Albany, he feels he would need, for reversal, a "reasonable number of certificates from voters saying they were confused and protesting in his behalf." Any action he takes will probably be dependent on his success in acquiring such statements or certificates. He says his attitude in the matter is based only on the "acceptance of the figures" and "does not imply agreement or disagreement with the election itself."

He notes, however, that any jurisdiction on the validation of the results is not within the board's province. The only question raised for trustees was what to do with the official canvass of votes which came before them Thursday night. In certifying the results, they were "acting as an agent," Epstein says, "and were obligated to accept the canvass as made by the officers as appointed by the board."

SAUGERTIES

Begins Action For Tax Cuts At A&P Store

Village Clerk James Gage has advised members of the Saugerties Village Board that he has been served with a legal notice in the matter of an application submitted by Emanuel B. Katz for a review under Section A-7 of the Real Property Tax Law. Katz is protesting the tax assessment on property he owns in the village and has filed for a review of the decision made by the Board of Assessors of the village.

He made application as owner of the local A&P store and asked a hearing with the New York State Supreme Court in the matter. According to Gage, the notice he received says such a hearing will be granted on June 2 or soon thereafter and that counsel retained by Katz can be heard at that time during a special term of Supreme Court.

Assessment on the property was set at $75,000, a sum Katz feels is too high and should be subject to review. He had appeared during Grievance Day here and requested a reduction in the amount, but the Board of Assessors apparently felt there was no reason to accede. Katz has taken the next step open to him that of letting the Court decide whether the assessment is a fair one or not.

Village Fire Commissioner Donald McCaig has reported that a meeting will be held with all fire chiefs and fire wardens tonight and that fire wardens inspections should begin locally in approximately two weeks.

Street Commissioner Maurice Clements has advised trustees that he has received a number of complaints about the condition of Dock Street, recently dug up in an effort to repair sewer and water lines and put in some new lines. He said other complaints of the same type have come from many other streets in the village, following winter weather damage to thoroughfares.

He noted, however, that the street department began patching streets last Monday and workmen will eventually be covering all streets in the village with an eye to repairing them and patching holes.

Sewerage Commissioner Gregory Mulvey noted receipt of a letter from the State Department of Health, outlining various infractions locally. He said these would be rectified as soon as possible.

250 Processed At Lions Clinic, Detect 5 Cases

Guest speaker at this week's meeting of Saugerties Lions Club, during a session at Flamingo Restaurant, was William Stall, of Kingston Lions Club. A former district Deputy Governor, Stall spoke on the progress the local organization has made in the past few years and praised the fine programs sponsored by the Saugerties club, which have gained recognition throughout the district.

Stall, a frequent and welcome guest here, has served for some time as installing officer of Saugerties Lions.

George Turner reported on the planned Lions Club trip to Saratoga Raceway later this month. He said arrangements are well underway, but noted that an insufficient number of club members have indicated a definite commitment to participate in the outing, making it impossible for him to charter the necessary bus. A committee has been appointed to contact members personally in order to secure this information.

William Brinnier, chairman of the recent Glaucoma Clinic here, reported that more than 250 people were processed at the clinic during its seven hour stand. He said such a large number could not have been handled had it not been for the excellent cooperation of the three optometrists involved — Anthony Vedeck of Saugerties and David Kline and Harry R. LeFever Jr., of Kingston, whose time and testing equipment proved of invaluable benefit to Saugerties residents.

Brinnier had special praise for George Turner and Paul Pavlovich, of his committee, as well as members Louis Francello, Robert Campbell, Glen Gentner, Al Giannotti and Stuart Buchan, who handled various shifts during the day at the clinic. He also thanked Supervisor Peter Williams and Town Clerk Marion Newkirk for their cooperation in arranging use of the Saugerties Town Building.

The clinic resulted in the discovery of five persons suffering from glaucoma, all of whom were advised to consult an ophthalmologist as soon as possible. Brinnier noted that the findings supported the statistics advanced by the State Department of Health that "one adult out of every 50 has glaucoma." He felt, he said, that the Lions Club clinic had made it possible for these five local residents to secure proper treatment to arrest the disease and prevent the possibility of blindness in cases where there was no suspicion of the symptoms of the malady.

Future clinics of this type will probably be held here under sponsorship of the Lions Club, since the membership feels they are of benefit to the community if only one case is detected.

Luther Claims He's Confident Of Making Race

In an attempt to spike rumors that had him leaving the race for Republican designation as a County Legislator candidate from the Town of Saugerties, Richard J. Luther announced this week that he has made great strides with his designating petition.

The Saugerties school teacher said he had some 125 signatures on the petition already and sees the possibility of running his total to as high as 300 signatures before the May 16 filing deadline. Luther indicated that although several persons had collected signatures for him, he personally had contacted the majority of the signers and at that rate will have contacted one of every 10 Republican voters in the Town of Saugerties before the filing deadline.

One hundred sixty-eight valid signatures are needed by Republican candidates in the Town of Saugerties to appear on the Primary Ballot on June 20.

Luther's aggressive campaigning among the Republican voters, he says, is in keeping with his concept of what he feels the people of Saugerties want in the four men who will represent the town in the County Legislature — men not bound by any political indebtedness, men who will aggressively discuss public issues in public, men who will meet the public and appeal to the voters.

The teacher-candidate has shown perseverance in his quest. He started out by collecting 100 signatures, only to discover that his original designating petition contained two errors. This forced a recall of the incorrect petitions and a new start.

Luther feels all things point to his entry in the Republican Primary on June 20.

8 Men Hurt In Atomic Plant Wall Cave-In

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (AP) — State police reported today that a wall caved in at an atomic power plant under construction near Cordova, Ill., injuring an undetermined number of men.

"They found eight men," a police spokesman said. "We don't know the seriousness of their condition. We don't know if any are dead."

The first report was that an estimated 20 men had lost their lives in the accident.

The Rock Island County sheriff's office reported all available equipment had been sent to the scene. Cordova is on the Mississippi River, about 20 miles north of Rock Island and Moline.

Bobby, Udall To Race Rapids On Saturday

NORTH CREEK, N.Y. (AP) — The upper Hudson River's icy-cold, rocky rapids waited today for a weekend onslaught of white-water enthusiasts, who are to include Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall.

New York's Democratic senator and Udall plan to race down the Adirondack Mountain rapids Saturday, along with members of both their families, on rafts, canoes and kayaks.

The schedule for the annual White Water Derby this weekend calls for races through the rapids in different classes Saturday, followed by an on-land-race event Sunday.

Kennedy and Udall have not decided formally to enter the competition, a spokesman for Kennedy added Thursday.

Mrs. Kennedy, who recently gave birth to her 10th child, will be on hand for the trip with several other Kennedy children — Kathleen, Joseph III, Bobby Jr., David, Michael, Courtney and Carey.

Mrs. Udall and two of her sons also may make the trip, Kennedy's office said.

Chandler Rites Preparations Are Announced

Unveiling of two large markers designating the Kingston interchange between the Albany Avenue traffic circle and the Thruway circle as the "Col. George F. Chandler Drive" will be preceded Saturday by a luncheon at Governor Clinton Hotel honoring former Superintendent of the State Police Francis S. McGarvey. The luncheon will be at noon with the unveiling ceremonies at the Albany Avenue circle at 2:30 o'clock.

Sponsored by the Mid-Hudson Chapter, Former New York State Troopers Association, Inc., the dinner will be attended by many associates of the late Dr. Chandler. Among them will be Dr. Joseph Jacobson of Kingston. Also present will be Raymond C. Clark, president of the State Association of Former State Troopers.

Presiding at the luncheon will be Robert Case, president of Mid-Hudson Chapter, and the guest speaker will be Brig. Gen. Charles E. Walsh Jr., superintendent of operation and maintenance, State Department of Public Works, Albany, who will participate in the unveiling.

A number of the original "Camp Men", first to sign up in the troopers, will also be present as will Major A. J. Robson, commander of Troop C, of Sidney who will head the motorcycle from the Albany Avenue interchange after the unveiling to the Thruway circle where the second marker will be unveiled.

At the luncheon scrolls will be presented to former State Senator Lloyd A. Newcombe of Catskill and Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, the two state legislators who sponsored the bill which authorized the naming of the arterial route as the Col. George F. Chandler Drive. The scrolls will be presented by Frederic Snyder, Kingston Rotary Club of Kingston and Catskill.

Dedication of the highway honors a Kingston man who 30 years ago organized the State Police. When the legislation authorizing the formation of the State Police became law, Col. Chandler, a man with wide military experience and one of Kingston's prominent surgeons was selected to head the gigantic task of forming a statewide police service.

Among the "Camp Men" who have signed they will attend the ceremonies are Henry Forst, Clarence Brophy, James Gaddis, all of Kingston; George Wiltner, Auburn; Samuel Griffin, Albany; Arthur Broadfield, Poughkeepsie; Charles W. Bentley Jr., Saranac Lake and Raymond C. Clark, state president.

Ravena Cement Plant Idled, 200 Walk Out

Atlantic Cement Company's Ravena plant was idled at 7 a. m. today when 200 members of Local 429, United Cement, Lime and Gypsum Workers (AFL-CIO) went on strike in a wage-rate and job security dispute.

A spokesman for the union said members voted on Thursday to walk off their jobs today after contract negotiations broke off without an agreement. It was said the company wants a two-year contract while the Union sought a contract for one year.

Charles Burrs, general manager of the cement company, said issues separating the two sides were wage rates and job security. "They want a contract with guaranteed work during its entire lifetime and a reduction in wages. They turned down our offer of a rise and a standard job security clause that is in no other contract with another company anywhere in the United States."

Alva Shear, vice-president of Local 429, confirmed the chief obstacle to a pact was the work security clause. He said the union was seeking to negotiate a one-year contract, rather than a two-year contract wanted by the company.

Picket lines were scheduled to start at 7 a. m. after an orderly shutdown of the plant.

Insemination Is Okayed for Humans

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The Oklahoma House has approved and sent to Gov. Dewey Bartlett a bill to legalize artificial insemination of humans and declare children of such conception legitimate.

Final approval of the measure which opponents tagged immoral came Thursday as the House accepted some Senate amendments with little discussion. Both bodies had passed the bill earlier.

Local Death Record

Josef Preiser, internationally recognized New York and Woodstock painter, well-known for his powerful and penetrating studies of life around him, died suddenly on April 14, at the age of 57, in Paris, where he had been living for the past three years. Preiser studied at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts School under Phillip Hale and Henry Hunt Clark and for four years in Europe at the principal museums of France, Italy and Belgium. He is represented in the permanent collection of the Metropolitan Museum and in the important collections in this country. He has received numerous awards and prizes, among them the prize in Painting, Toledo Museum, auditor, Artists Association, Woodmere Art Association, L. I. New Haven Paint & Clay Club and the Yaddo Fellowship. He had the distinction of being one of the few American painters whose work was acquired by Europe's most notable collection — The Royal Uffizi Museum, Florence, Italy. Funeral arrangements were not reported to The Freeman.

Not Unrest Curb

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anti-poverty program chief Sargent Shriver says a request for Job Corps funds isn't aimed at curbing summer civil rights uprisings. But he conceded they could help achieve such a goal. Shriver was sharply questioned Wednesday as he appeared before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee to urge approval of a $75 million boost in anti-poverty funds to finance a summer recreation and job corps program.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said mayors of New York City, Detroit, Atlanta and St. Louis all asked for more summer program funds because they believe the program is critical to maintain public order.

Announces Appointments

D. S. CALDERWOOD

A series of executive changes in the Kingston Coal and Oil Company and its affiliated wholesale companies were announced today by Herbert L. Shultz, president.

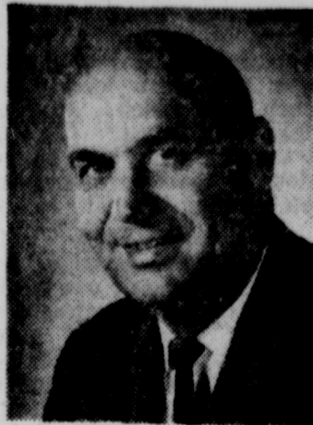

Donald S. Calderwood was appointed vice president in charge of the Kingston Coal and Oil Company, the city's oldest fuel company, a retail operation which distributes Mobil household heating oil and other products throughout Ulster County. A resident of Windemere, Saugerties, Calderwood is married and has four children.

Robert Hogan was appointed a sales executive of Rodie Coal Company and will concentrate his activities largely in the area of liaison with various mining companies represented by Rodie Coal. Hogan, a resident of Hurley, is married and has three children. He is an active member of the Kingston Lions Club.

At the same time, Shultz advised that Nick J. Valenzano has been promoted to the position of general manager of Kingston Coal and Oil Company.

ROBERT HOGAN

Johnson will have the responsibility of routing and scheduling shipments of coal by train and truck for these two wholesale concerns.

Other officers of the Rodie Coal Company and its affiliates, in addition to Shultz, are Clair S. Sheaffer, vice president; Harry A. Legg, treasurer; Mrs. Barbara R. Shultz, secretary; and Mrs. Evelyn Adams, assistant secretary and assistant treasurer, all of Kingston.

Search Pushed Along Shoreline

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (AP) — New York State and Canadian police continued their search of Lake Champlain islands and shoreline today for Bernard Gouvrenant, who has been missing since Saturday.

Police said the 34-year-old St. Lambert, Que., resident had set out in a small boat from St. John's, Que., to cover the 100 miles down the Richelieu River to Plattsburgh.

The boat was found Wednesday on the beach at Cumberland Head, just north of Plattsburgh, with the motor, a tool-lit and two lifejackets missing. Troopers said Thursday the craft itself appeared relatively undamaged.

As State Police and firemen searched the shoreline Thursday between Ausable Point and Cumberland Head, a Quebec Provincial Police helicopter checked all the islands in the lake.

Canadian officials said Gouvrenant was known to be a poor swimmer and an inexperienced boatman.

Head Off Winter's Driveway Headaches

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Once the snow is gone don't be surprised to find one or more tire tracks in your lawn right alongside the driveway. These ruts are the result of a lack of markers to guide you when a covering of snow makes drive and lawn look alike.

What you should have done before winter started and while the ground was soft was to drive markers into the ground along the edge of the drive. A few long stakes painted red or orange can guide you along the right path. Tomato or bean poles from the summer garden will serve nicely. If you think you can break through the solid ground you might still want to put in markers.

Better than markers and offering protection all year round is some permanent marker or curb for your drive. Plantings such as low growing hedges may involve more work and money than you care to invest. And they must be far enough from the drive to permit opening car doors.

A curb can be made of wood, masonry, old stones, almost anything durable. You can make yourself a genuine curb such as the type that lines our streets. Take a look at the curb out front and then dig a ditch along the edge of the drive that's as wide as the curb plus the thickness of the forms you will need.

Use 1x8s set on edge and held in place with stakes. Oil the inner surfaces before pouring concrete. Use waste motor oil for this. Pieces of quarter-inch plywood or hardboard should be inserted every six or eight feet at right angles to the forms.

Oil these and remove after the concrete has set. The forms can be removed after 24 hours. Fill the gap with tar or roofing cement.

Field Stones

Simplest of all is a pair of field stones set at the upper and lower ends of the lawn alongside the drive. A whole row of them will be even more decorative and protective. Paint them white so that you can see them at night and they'll keep you off the lawn during the warm weather. When they're snow-covered you'll have to depend on their bulk and weight to keep your tires from running over them.

Some folks use a row of bricks set at a saw-toothlike angle. Set them loosely in a trench and anchor the end bricks with concrete. This sort of arrangement can be hazardous if there are small children running around.

Picket Line

Inexpensive lengths of foot-high picket fencing can be purchased at most department and hardware stores and garden shops. Or you can make your own, if you have power tools or even hand tools and plenty of time, from lath material from your lumber yard.

These will have to be kept painted. The ends that are driven into the ground should be treated with a wood preservative.

If your house and landscaping have a rustic look, use logs of redwood or cedar. Place them in a shallow ditch along the edge of the drive. They'll have to be uniform in size, about six or eight inches thick. Drive stakes into the ground behind them to keep them from shifting. Get the type that is used for fence posts, stripped clean of bark. Varnish the stakes for added durability.

And if you don't do any of this by next fall, don't forget the brightly painted bean poles.

Hold Up City Bus

NEW YORK (AP) — Three teen-age thugs have held up a cross-town bus in Jesse James fashion but like chivalrous train robbers of the old west, they refused to take any money from the sole woman passenger.

Transit Authority bus driver Donald Hartman was about to begin an eastbound 65th street run at West End Avenue at 7:05 p.m. Wednesday.

Three youths about 17 entered, one pulled a gun and, according to police, said, "Wait, this is a stickup."

The trio demanded the change-maker and Hartman's money. He gave them $10, police.

From two male passengers, one of whom was slapped for reacting too slowly, they took $80.

And they returned to Miss Helen Rovin, 35, address withheld by police, the $1 bill which she said was the only money she had.

They left the bus, ordered the driver, "Take off," and fled on foot.

Let Weather Do Finishing

The best finish for most yard structures like fences and decks is no finish at all. When woods like Douglas fir and western red cedar are allowed to weather naturally, not only do they attain an incomparable silvery patina, but time-consuming maintenance and refinishing are eliminated.

Impatient homeowners who find it hard to live through the ugly duckling stage of weathering, when the wood may look streaked and discolored, can pretty much eliminate that period by treating the wood with a clear water repellent preservative. The repellent doesn't change the natural appearance of the wood, but it does reduce preliminary darkening and uneven weathering.

Application of bleaching oil containing a mildewicide is another way to get around the first ugly duckling year.

Still another method, recommended by some architects, is to apply a single coat of driftwood stain to the structure, being sure to use transparent stain. Sun, weather and time will eventually bleach the wood so finished, but the changeover from stain to real weathered wood is barely noticeable.

To Committee

The Common Council, meeting on Tuesday, May 2, did not pass a zoning change for 163 Pine Street from an "R-2" to a "C-3" as reported in the Freeman May 3. The request for a zoning change was referred to committee.

Galley Type Kitchen Helps Homemaker

By JACK McLENEY

There's much to be said for one-floor living, and I think, a new home plan by Associated Architects—"The Ogden"—says it beautifully. For this house is a fine example of how you and your family can live happily on a single level. Let me escort you through "The Ogden" with the assistance of the accompanying floor plan.

There are three entrances, actually; we can use the front door, one to the rear, or a door from the garage. The latter is the preferred entrance when you drive in on rainy days, of course, or when family members travel back and forth from the garage to basement.

But let's see the house in style. The front door for us, into a foyer, which has a most convenient coat closet. This central hallway allows you to reach the living room, bedrooms or bath directly, without crossing another room.

The living room faces front, its twin window walls providing a dramatic view. The room measures 12½ by 24½ feet and includes a large dining area that connects directly to the kitchen.

The beauty of this room is its double fireplace. Actually, the fireplace has a second function, to separate the living and dining areas. The effect is striking, to say the least — a big stone fireplace reaching out into the room to provide more than one kind of warmth. Two built-in flank the fireplace, a bookcase and wood box in the living room, and a china cabinet in the dining area.

There are three bedrooms in "The Ogden," one of them pretty special. It's a nursery, if you like, and connects with the kitchen as well as the center hall. Reason for that is to make things easier for Mother, who is able to investigate quickly without running through rooms and hallways.

This room, like the two others, has a wardrobe rather than the usual small closet, and is equipped with smart-looking modern sliding doors that add to useful wall space. Bedroom sizes range from 12½ by 13½ feet to 9½ by 11 feet.

I think you'll find the kitchen interesting, especially the way the sink fits into the corner. The corner window makes this a cheerful place to work, and one that is efficient. For this kitchen is like a ship's galley, functional, compact and easy to live with.

"The Ogden" inspect the actual working drawings, which Associated Architects are making available at moderate cost. Please use the accompanying coupon and indicate if you want plans with basement or without. The living area of this attractive home is 1,170 square feet, with another 270

Push-Button Control Of Your Home's Climate

Summer or winter, today's home-owner can order his atmosphere custom-made at a touch of a button.

Promising refuge from blistering heat and humidity, central air conditioning systems are now available in a range of sizes and types on an installed or do-it-yourself basis.

Air conditioning, cleaning, humidification, dehumidification, cooling or heating—all these home needs are provided quickly and automatically by a combination "All Conditioner."

Also available is a electronic air cleaner which fits permanently into any central forced-air heating-cooling system, collecting and holding air-borne dust, dirt, pollen, bacteria and tobacco smoke. Particles as minute as 1/33 of a micron (500 microns barely fit inside a pencil dot) are captured by this electronic unit.

Adding convenience to comfort is a wall-mount register that automatically adjusts itself to maintain the home-owner's choice in proper temperatures. A temperature-sensitive element inside the register takes the guesswork and bother out of setting and maintaining interior air flow.

These and other home heating-cooling systems, ranging from single units to those combining all the home comfort, air-purifying and conditioning needs are available exclusively at Sears, Roebuck and Co.

Bus Order Missed

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Bus service in Rochester continued strikebound for the fourth day today, with a transit union's lawyer contending that a court order directing an end to the walkout was served on the wrong labor officials.

A temporary restraining order, obtained Tuesday night by the Rochester Transit Corp. from a State Supreme Court justice, was served on the union's recording secretary and a vice president, the lawyer, Alex J. Goss'n, said Thursday.

But, he added, the president and business agent of Division 282, Amalgamated Transit Union, AFL-CIO, should have been the ones to receive the order since they were named in it.

Women Do Repair Jobs In the Home

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Women are doing male-type jobs around the house because they are there—the women and the jobs.

Spring's invigorating days are ideal for tackling all sorts of odd jobs such as puttying, weatherstripping, repairing plaster walls. New materials put such jobs in an easy-does-it category. Why nag the plumber, carpenter or handyman when you can do-it-yourself?

One woman waited three months for a plumber to install a combination type faucet and then one day was in fine fettle and decided to tackle the job herself.

"I turned off the main water valve, removed the old faucet and put the new one on the way the old one had been attached," she explains.

Not all substitute handyman jobs are that simple, but the shelf carpentry problem has been solved more or less by the availability of ready-made shelves and brackets that come with installation directions.

These may not be the most desirable shelves for heavy books, but it is a way to make a neat arrangement of clutter, even if it is only temporary. These shelves are ideal in the kitchen to hold a collection of cookbooks or in a child's room for little toys and other paraphernalia.

You attach metal stripping to the wall, add brackets and shelves and that's all there is to it.

Prefinished plastic shelves in wood tones observed in stores are good looking, but if one prefers real wood, a lumber yard will cut boards to the length desired. Solid-color plastic can be laminated to wood shelves, and the initial expense may be worth the easy upkeep.

Plaster wall patch-up is a natural for women, if they'd take the trouble to experiment. It's a lot easier than kneading dough or making meringue, and some of the same techniques are involved. The right tool is important, and if there is a problem, it may be because the dry worker tried to do the job with a pancake spatula instead of a plastering trowel.

In spring, when one pulls beds and furniture away from walls, small plaster bulges and cracks may be noticed. A beginner plasterer should experiment with a tiny cracked spot and work up from there. You never can tell where you'll end up if you go on a plaster binge.

One woman plastered a 6 by 8 foot kitchen wall completely with the ready-mix material that one buys for plaster patch-up. She had wanted to surprise her husband who was on a journey. The only complaint he had was on the small quantities she bought to make a large batch. If she bought the stuff and mixed it herself, he observed, it would have been cheaper. But can't a girl have any fun, even when she's doing a big job like that, she asks.

Local Chapter Of Bank Group Names Kugelmann

Ulster County Chapter of the American Institute of Banking recently elected Francis Kugelmann Jr., of Kingston Trust Savings Bank as president at a meeting in Kingston Plaza Branch of the State of New York National Bank.

Other officers elected included: Vice president, John T. Molloy, Kingston Trust Company; secretary, Ronald Every, State of New York National Bank; and treasurer, Richard Craig, Kingston Trust Company.

Elected to the Board of Governors for a three-year term were: Kenneth Osterhoudt, Rondout National Bank and Walter Johnson, Saugerties National Bank and Trust Company. Continuing as Board members are Vincent Mikalson, Kerhonkson National Bank; Kenneth Pratt, Fred Carpenter, and William Fitzgibbon of Kingston Trust Company. The immediate past president, Howard Stephens, State of New York National Bank will serve as a member of the Board of Governors for a one year term.

Past President Stephens expressed his appreciation to all AIB members for the cooperation during the past year. A total of 62 bankers participated in the 1966 education program. The American Institute of Banking was organized in 1900 by a group of bankers who felt there was need for an educational program that would give bank employees a better understanding of their work and help them progress in their chosen field.

'Discard Old Fashioned Notions,' Women Hear at Career Clinic Given by UCBPW

Women now hold 75 percent of the jobs in banking in Ulster County, they fill the gaps in manufacturing jobs, fill jobs in retailing, the second largest industry in this country, and are more adaptable in jobs requiring dexterity.

These are some of the points outlined at last night's (Wednesday) career workshop programmed by the Ulster County Business and Professional Women's Club, an affiliate of the National and International BPW Clubs, Inc.

Program chairman, Mrs. Neher, who heads the UCBPW Personal Development Committee, introduced the panel of speakers, one of whom advised women "to throw away that old fashioned notion that a woman's place is in the home."

The pilot program, geared to dispensing employment and educational information to women interested in jobs, was made possible through the full cooperation of local banking, retailing, commercial and educational officials.

"This is a format in which the Woman's Program of the New York State Department of Commerce and General Hall, its Deputy Commissioner, are interested," Mrs. Dorothy A. Narel, club president, told the panel and guests attending. "It is the first of several workshops planned for this area by the club, with each session embracing a different phase of the employment picture," she said.

Principal speakers were Neil Whitehurst, chairman, Division of Business, Ulster County Community College; Howard Stephens, cashier, State of New York National Bank; Robert March, general manager, Kingston Employment Agency; and Russell Brott, senior employment interviewer, New York State Employment Service.

Mr. Whitehurst stated that the Ulster County Community College is willing to schedule whatever subjects women feel they would like to study. "It is your responsibility to find which opportunities exist and to take advantage of them," he said. "Whatever you want to learn, we'll set it up for you even if it's one night a week," Whitehurst emphasized.

March outlined the facts that retailing offers glamour, requires showmanship and is one

With 75 per cent of the banking jobs in the hands of women in this county, Mr. Stephens advised women not to worry about automation because it actually frees them for more interesting positions. In line with this, he stated that 18 of 80 banking officers in Ulster County are women. He also said that the part-time jobs exist in banking and interested women should inquire about them.

Mr. Rice crystallized the position of manufacturing in this area by stating that of the approximate $150 million in salaries earned, $87 million is earned in manufacturing. He also emphasized that women fill the employment gaps in manufacturing, are more suitable for jobs requiring dexterity, and that every firm offers training courses.

Explaining the how and why of applying for jobs were Russell Brott, senior employment interviewer, New York State Employment Service, and Harold Tirsch, manager, Kingston Employment Agency.

The material distributed at last night's workshop may be obtained by any interested woman by writing to: Ulster County Business and Professional Women's Club, 694-A Broadway, Kingston. Available are, free of charge: GUIDE ON THE 10 POINTS FOR WOMEN JOB SEEKERS; HOW TO CONDUCT YOURSELF IN AN INTERVIEW; OUTLINE ON HOW TO PREPARE A RESUME.

Participating with the principal speakers in round table sessions were: retailing—Richard Fredenburgh, soft lines manager, James Milligan, credit manager, Sears; banking—Frank H. Kolts, vice president, Oscar J. Lawatsch, assistant vice president, State of New York National Bank; manufacturing—Roy Almquist, personnel manager, Harry Ashby, assistant to the president, Ferroxcube.

Serving on the UCBPW committee in charge of arrangements were Joan Ann Byrnes, Katherine Bower, Rosemarie Caulfield, Rosemary Denter, Grace Edly, Christine Gallop, Bertha Gully, Irene Hermann, Sara MacDonald, Ethel Martin, Lorraine Lilja, Margo Rathburn and Sara Springer.

School Officials Meet on 'Africa'

Approximately 50 area school board members and administrators will meet at the New Paltz State University College Camp near the Ashokan reservoir Saturday for a 10 - hour workshop on "The Humanities in Africa," the Mid-Hudson School Study Council, New Paltz, announced today.

The meeting follows similar successful workshops held in the past on Latin America and Asia. Among the lecturers will be Parbati Kumar Sircar, formerly Dean of the University of Nigeria faculty and now professor of geography at New Paltz, who will talk on the use and misuse of land in Africa.

Traditional African educational patterns with reference to the role of family, peer groups, and initiation schools will be discussed by Mphiwa Mbatha, New Paltz assistant professor of anthropology and previously with the University of Natal.

Barbara Nnoka, assistant professor of literature and African studies at the College, will present a lecture on "African Literature Reflecting a Changing Culture;" and Dr. Douglas F. Fraser, art historian and archaeologist and member of the faculty of Columbia University's Institute of African Studies will present "Unity in Traditional African Art."

Dr. Willard Rhodes, ethnologist of the Columbia University Institute, will talk on "African Music in a Changing World." His talk will be illustrated by Seth Ladzekpo, a student at New Paltz, a former teacher of Music at the University of Ghana, and a musician specializing in African instruments.

Area administrators taking part in the program are Myron Rindsberg, district principal, Webutuck schools; Ted Grenda, superintendent of schools, Rondout Valley; Dexter Arnold, Saugerties school superintendent; Lawrence Gilmour, administrative assistant to the superintendent, Wappingers schools; John L. Krause, Middletown schools superintendent; Clifford Wilcox, supervising principal, Chester school district; Thomas Jenkins, district principal, Montrose, and President George Sullivan of the Mid-Hudson School Study Council.

Slabsides Tour Planned May 20 At West Park Site

Open House Day at Slabsides, the rustic cabin built by the naturalist John Burroughs at West Park and maintained as a memorial to him, will be Saturday, May 20, and the public may attend.

The program will start at 11 a. m. One of the speakers will be Lansing Christian, Schenectady County Historian. A nature walk through the woodland recently acquired by the John Burroughs Memorial Association for a wildlife sanctuary will be led by Dr. J. Alfred Adams, starting from the cabin about 1 p. m. The cabin will be open on May 20 from 11 a. m. to 4 p. m., rain or shine.

Slabsides may be reached by turning west from Route 9W at West Park, crossing the railroad tracks and bearing right, following Floyd Ackert Road to Burroughs Drive at the top of the hill where cars may be parked. The cabin is a 10 minute walk from this point. Those attending may bring lunch to take part in the full program.

mittee for the workshop with Mr. Arnold, Gilmour, and Rindsberg.

Mrs. Wright, who spent several years in Africa, and Matilda Bernard, College food service manager, will present a buffet luncheon of African dishes for the participants.

Lady Conductor Is Pleasant Innovation For Pit Orchestra

NEW YORK (AP) — The conductor wears black velvet, white satin and French lace. "I'm not to be mistaken for a boy," says Karen Gustafson, and she couldn't be.

Her taffy-colored hair shimmers as she bends to lead the orchestra of the Broadway show "Illya Darling" and a spotlight catches the brilliance of a square-cut ring on her right hand as she guides the baton.

The music rises up from her 25 musicians—all men. If she likes it there is a flashed smile of approval; if she doesn't, a slight tightening of the mouth is all reproach.

"There's a feminine element in music and I direct as a woman," Miss Gustafson says. "If you get an orchestra of mainly men, they get great joy from playing well for a lady. But your sex doesn't bring any special sensitivity to the music. It's what you are as a person."

Her job, a novelty in a musicians' world of bow ties and tuxedos, calls for certain concessions to masculine tradition. Dresses are banned in the pit, and Miss Gustafson wears a black velvet jacket, white satin turtle neck blouse and French lace labot over a skirt.

Maintaining discipline has not been a problem, she says. Her method is permissiveness rather than rigidity.

"I let the men read in between numbers, something that other conductors don't always permit. But I think relaxed people are easier to handle than tense ones so I let them do their word puzzles if they want."

Miss Gustafson, who puts her age at "over 21," was born in Cincinnati, Ohio, and studied music there before moving to New York in 1949. She is married to Cornelio Hidalgo, a former press officer for Bolivia at the United Nations. They have a 3-year-old son.

Other women have performed as substitute conductors in Broadway shows, but Miss Gustafson believes she is the first to direct a pit orchestra here on a regular basis.

Asked if she were concerned about being competition for the show's star, Melina Mercouri, Miss Gustafson said, "The audience only sees the back of my head. I prefer to concentrate on the music."

KHS CHOIR CONCERT, one of the outstanding musical events in the county, will be given in the KHS auditorium on Friday and Saturday, May 12 and 13 at 8:15 p. m. ## Doing The Right Thing

BY ELIZABETH L. POST
of the Emily Post Institute

Dear Mrs. Post: What is the ruling in regard to "elbows on the table?" I was always brought up that under no circumstances was it ever good etiquette to put your elbows on the table before, after, or restaurants, however, I see people doing this before and after meals. — Sandra

Dear Sandra: When you are seated across a table from your companion, it may be necessary to lean forward to hear each other above the conversation or music. When this is so, it is more natural and graceful to rest your elbows on the table, hands clasped below your chin. Elbows are never put on the table, however, while one is actually eating, nor at any time at a truly formal dinner party.

"How Do You Do" Correct Response

Dear Mrs. Post: When teenagers are introduced to elderly people, isn't it proper for them to say "how do you do" or "hello?" I've told my daughters never to say "hi" unless they are being introduced to their own age group. Am I right or wrong? — Mrs. Stone

Dear Mrs. Stone: You are right. "How do you do" or "Hello" are the correct phrases for youngsters to use in responding to introductions to older people.

"Etiquette Tips for Teenagers" by Elizabeth L. Post, is available to readers of this paper. This booklet will answer many questions for teenagers and their parents. To get a copy, send twenty-five cents in coin to cover booklet and shipping expenses, to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of this paper.

New Paltz LWV Will Sponsor Harp Concert

Through the centuries the harp has been woven into stories, poems, books and the Bible. It is part of man's historical experience on the battlefield, in the court, ballet, opera, and in symphonic orchestras.

The League of Women Voters in New Paltz will feature the harp in a concert Saturday, May 6 at 8 p. m. and on Sunday, May 7, a children's concert at 3 p. m. Performances will be given in the Duane School off Route 32 north, New Paltz.

All proceeds will go to the League of Women Voters of New Paltz whose members present non-partisan facts to the citizen and encourage his participation in government.

Miss Rosenfield, as concert harpist and soloist with many Symphony Orchestras has toured the United States from coast to coast. She has been in charge of the Harp Department at Oklahoma University, Texas Christian, and Peabody Conservatory. She has lectured at Juilliard on "Composing for the Harp". Her book on this subject is still in manuscript form but her "Favorite Fables for Harp" have been published by France Colombo, Music Publishers, N. Y. She will perform these "Fables" at the Children's Performance on Sunday, give a talk on the history of the harp, explain the differences between the Irish and the Concert Harp, play selections on them, and have the children sing songs to her harp accompaniment.

At the harp concert Saturday, May 6, the program of this fine artist will consist of works that range from the Renaissance Lute Dances to Handel, Debussy, Prokofiev, Salzedo, Grandjany, and Fine. Vivian Fine's "Variations for Harp" was dedicated to Miss Rosenfield who gave its premiere performance at Woodstock, N. Y.

In 1950 Miss Rosenfield was a student at what was then the

The Doctor's Mailbag

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.
FACE LIFTING DOES NOT HALT PROCESS OF AGING

Q—In what way does a face lifting help? How would a person look a couple of years after this operation? Are most people satisfied after such an operation? Can you tell that a person has had one?

A—In the technique now widely used, an incision is made at the side of the face near the hair line and the excess skin is removed. This removes the wrinkles but does not halt the process of aging. The operation leaves you looking 10 to 12 years younger. Two years later you would still look good but after four or five years you might need a retreat.

Most people who depend for their living on making a pleasing appearance in public are satisfied with the results. When skillfully done, the scar is hardly noticeable but in women that is not so important because they can choose a hairdo that will cover the scar.

Q—I am 37 and have deep wrinkles in my face. Am I too young to have a face lifting?

A—Some persons have this operation in their 20s.

Q—My doctor says I have sarcoidosis or Boeck's sarcoid in my lungs. What causes it? Is it serious? What is the best treatment?

A—Sarcoidosis is a disease of unknown origin. Although it resembles tuberculosis in many ways, it is apparently not caused by an infectious agent. It may be due to an allergy to pine tree pollen, the dust of peanut hulls or some other allergen. In the skin and lymph nodes it causes a lumpy enlargement. It may occur anywhere in the body but the commonest location is in the lungs. The nodules may exist for years without causing any symptoms, depending on the part of the body involved.

Because of the benign nature of the disease, many doctors prefer a course of watchful waiting with periodic checks rather than vigorous treatment. Others prescribe X-ray treatments or such drugs as streptomycin, colchicine, hydrocortisone or chloroquine. The results with these measures are varied. The disease runs a harmless course unless a vital organ becomes involved and most vic-

Presley Remains Aloof From Fans After Marriage

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Elvis Presley emerged this week from the seclusion of his private life. He celebrated his marriage to Priscilla Ann Beaulieu at a lavish Las Vegas reception, then disappeared once more.

The wedding apparently caused no wave of consternation among the Presley fans. Most of the girls who screamed at his gyrations 10 years ago are now wives and mothers. While many of them remain fiercely loyal to their hero, they appear sympathetic to his acquiring a wife.

The loyalty of Presley fans puzzles Hollywood insiders. Unlike some popular favorites who are willing to share their personal lives with the public, Elvis has led an almost Garbo-like existence in recent years.

Still Makes Millions

He makes no personal appearances, gives only perfunctory interviews on movie sets. His records and movies are his only exposure to the public. While his record sales have been overshadowed by the Beatles and other more recent favorites, he is still a top seller. He can still earn a million dollars apiece for the three films he makes annually.

His romance with Priscilla Beaulieu was typical of Presley's penchant for secrecy.

Movie magazines and gossip columnists started to sniff out a romance when the petite brunette appeared amid the plaudits of handlers and hangers-on that surrounded the singer.

It was discovered that Elvis had met her when he was 24 and she was 14. He was stationed with the Army in Germany, where her father was an Air Force officer.

His chief romance when he returned to his career was a girl named Anita Woods. But that blew over about the time Priscilla's father was transferred to the United States. She turned up as permanent house guest at Elvis' lavish Memphis home, Graceland. The singer's father and stepmother lived there at the time, but later moved out. Priscilla finished high school in Memphis, remaining there during Presley's forays to Hollywood for film making. After graduating, she joined the entourage, living in the mosque-like Bel Air mansion Elvis rented during filming.

Kept Mouth Shut

"She used to drive around Memphis in a fire-engine red Corvair convertible," said a Memphis reporter. "She wouldn't say whether Elvis had bought it for her. In fact, she wouldn't say much of anything."

IT MAY BE DIFFICULT to recognize this member of the KHS Class of 1957, but that's exactly the idea. The program committee is arranging several of these "guess who" puzzles for the gala entertainment evening on Saturday, July 1 at the Governor Clinton Hotel. The reunion will begin on June 30 and close July 2. Music for dancing will be provided by Van Henry's 12-piece orchestra. Reservations are due May 10 and detailed information may be obtained by contacting Mr. and Mrs. George Stephano of Ulster Park.

Talks Despite Audience Furore

HAYWARD, Calif. (AP) — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, defending U.S. policy in South Vietnam, continued talking in an unperturbed manner Thursday night at Chabot College despite release of two tear-gas cartridges in the audience.

Taylor, former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and former ambassador to the Southeast Asian country, spoke at the junior college's new gymnasium dedication.

He was answering questions when one cartridge was set off, driving about 75 persons from a section of the main floor. Doors were opened and ventilating fans turned on. Then, a second cartridge was set off in the bleachers forcing another 50 persons to flee.

There was no indication that the gas reached Taylor. A police official said, "It definitely was tear gas, but no one suffered."

About 2,300 persons were in the audience. Chabot has 6,300 students.

Police said "two very small cartridges" were smashed against the rear wall of the gym, opposite from where Taylor was speaking.

Outside the gym, about 20 pickets marched in opposition to U.S.-Vietnam policy. Taylor entered the gym earlier through a rear door.

Later, another group, said to be students, set up a counter-picket line.

In his speech Taylor said bombing of North Vietnam is necessary to keep pressure on the enemy. He said he thought requests for more men on the battlefield were justified.

Author's Son Denies Charge On Drug Offer

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The son of a noted author and literary critic is free on $3,500 surety bail after denying a felony charge that he offered to give and sell marijuana to minors.

Kurt J. Fiedler, 26, entered the innocent plea Thursday in Erie County Court to a sealed indictment returned by a grand jury Wednesday and opened at his court appearance. Judge Jacob A. Latona set no date for the trial.

The indictment accuses Fiedler of offering to "give or sell marijuana to two minors" last Friday. Dr. Leslie A. Fiedler, 50, was raided by narcotics detectives.

Dr. Fiedler, who also is an English professor at the State University of Buffalo; his wife Margaret, 48; Kurt Fiedler and his wife Emelie, 26; and two 17-year-old boys were arrested on misdemeanor narcotics charges during the raid.

The younger Fiedler also was charged with sale of narcotics, a felony, and was to have appeared in City Court Thursday. The sale charge was dismissed, however, because it was superseded by the indictment, authorities said.

The five other defendants are free on $500 bail while awaiting a jury trial in City Court June 5. In a related development Thursday, Martin Meyerson, president of the State University at Buffalo, said he would reserve any action he might take against Dr. Fiedler until the professor's case is resolved in court.

Electrocution Threat Faced by Kidnap Victim

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — For three days, according to 11-year-old Kenneth Young's father, the boy lived under the threat of electrocution while in the hands of a kidnaper.

The boy said he was told: "If you yell out, or if anyone comes in except me, 115 volts will go through your body."

The electrocution device, he said, was a mysterious black box which was connected by wires to the boy's body.

Kenneth was abducted from his bedroom early last month and held for three days. His father paid $250,000 for his release.

The father, Herbert J. Young, a savings and loan executive, said Thursday that his son believed the threat enough to obey the commands.

Although no arrests have been made, the father said Thursday "you have to be patient about these things. I'm sure everything possible is being done. I'm positive the man will eventually be arrested."

21 Filipinos Die In Dynamite Blast

MANILA (AP) — Twenty-one Filipinos were reported killed and 110 injured in a dynamite explosion Thursday in a fishing town in Samar Province, in the central Philippines.

The tragedy was reported in a telegram from the elementary school principal in the town, Mapanas, to Eladio Balite of Samar, a congressman.

The Manila Daily Mirror said that most of the dead were children.

No other details were available. The Philippine constabulary said he was checking the report.

Teener Killed

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Kenneth J. Andrews, 18, of suburban Brighton, was killed and a companion was injured seriously Thursday when an automobile struck a tree stump along a road in nearby Pittsford.

The companion, Fred DiFlo, 19, of East Rochester, was taken to Strong Memorial Hospital with multiple injuries. Monroe County sheriff's deputies said.

Andrews' address was 212 Dorking Road. DiFlo's home is at 225 E. Hickory St.

AP TV-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "The

Crucible," was playwright Arthur Miller's furious response 15 years ago to the national turmoil stirred up by the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy. It continued to pack anger and frustration in its television adaptation on CBS Thursday night.

The play, adjusted adroitly to meet television's needs by Miller, made its point by going back to an earlier witchhunt in Salem, Mass., at the close of the 17th century.

Story of Superstition

It was a story of superstition that fostered hysteria, of frightened and cruel people, and the message was implicit throughout, Miller felt, however, he must restate it in the final word of the two-hour and 15-minute drama: "Wherever men have lost all faith in one another, the ancient cry of witch still hovers on the wind, and it can still destroy."

The story started with a group of giddy girls surprised by the local minister when they were dancing in the woods. They became hysterical, rolled around in seizures and claimed to be possessed. Then they started naming local housewives as witches.

The story centered on John Proctor and his wife, Elizabeth, powerfully and effectively played by George C. Scott and Colleen Dewhurst. The woman was accused as a witch by the ringleader of the girls, played with saccharine viciousness by Tuesday Weld.

The hopelessness of the situation was clearly shown. There was a brutal court composed of a religious fanatic who was fudge and jury, and he was surrounded by venal men. There were frightened townspeople seeking only to save their skins. John Proctor moved inexorably toward the gallows, one of the few who stubbornly refused to lie and accuse innocent people to save himself.

The drama seemed a little slow in getting off the ground but considerable exposition was needed before the plot could take off. And from time to time the acting of some of the lesser players got a little out of hand — as, indeed, did Scott's final very theatrical scenes when he was clanking around in chains. All in all, however, it was a gripping and stimulating experience.

Would that the same happy report could be made about "The Human Voice," the one-character play with Ingrid Bergman which ABC broadcast during some of the time when "The Crucible" was shown.

Miss Bergman did her level best — which is good indeed — with a Jean Cocteau piece that had been pulled very thin to last an hour. It was simply a closeup of a woman at the end of an affair holding a desperate, final telephone conversation with her lost love.

It was too bad, since it could have come off as an interesting exercise in acting by an interesting performer if it could have been chopped down to 30 minutes.

Withdrawal Troops Could Be Back in Europe Within 2 Weeks

Quick Response Seen On Emergency Word

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two U.S. Army brigades due to be pulled out of West Germany could be back in Europe and ready for combat two weeks after an emergency summons, it was disclosed today.

This is half the time mentioned by U.S. officials Thursday when they spoke of a maximum deployment period for the brigades, which will be based in the United States.

Quick Reaction Vital

The same officials said four Air Force squadrons to be returned to this country could be flown back and made ready to fight in 10 days or less.

"Under emergency conditions a general approximation of two weeks time would be required to fly the brigades back to Germany, match them with their equipment, and have them ready for combat," the Defense Department told The Associated Press today.

"This time would include time to move the troops to the embarkation airfield, transit time to Europe, time to break out, issue and test equipment, and time to maneuver into position in Europe."

Quick reaction ability is vital in U.S. attempts to convince North Atlantic Treaty Organization allies the United States is not reducing its commitment to defend Western Europe from possible Communist attack, even though it is calling home some 35,000 Army troops and airmen.

American authorities contend rapid response to any emergency is possible by improved U.S. airlift resources — and an even greater improvement in the next few years when the giant C5 transport planes becomes part of the fleet.

This thinking also is predicated on the belief there would be a time of tension during which troops could be deployed — not a surprise enemy strike.

The plan is to keep the two brigades of the 24th Infantry Division "in a high degree of readiness to deploy" while they are in the United States, the Pentagon said.

Annual exercises will give the Army and Air Force an opportunity to refine and streamline techniques and procedures. The two stateside brigades will be reunited with one left in West Germany in annual transatlantic movements.

The four squadrons, numbering nearly 100 planes, also will be flown to West Germany once a year for maneuvers, joining the five other squadrons stationed in Europe.

The Pentagon estimates that about 26 C141 long-range, turbofan transport planes could lift the 28,000 Army troops back into position in Europe in two weeks. The Pentagon said only 10 of the C5 fanjets would be required to deliver the brigades to Europe. The first C5 flight is scheduled for about a year from now.

Kiwanis Given New Look at Greater City

"This is Kingston, New York, accessible to the world, offering a unique blending of industrial, commercial, residential, recreational, historical and scenic advantages. We have a motto in Kiwanis which says 'We Build.' We can be proud of what has been built for us, and what we have built here. We certainly have the raw material to build an even greater future."

These were the words of John R. Warren, local publicity consultant, who spoke before the Kingston Kiwanis Club Thursday on the subject "A New Look at Greater Kingston."

Warren accompanied his remarks with colored slides of Kingston and vicinity, some showing current accommodations while other delved into history, even prior to the burning of Kingston in 1777.

The story of Kingston began in 1609 with Henry Hudson's ship sailing up the river that now bears his name. Warren then traced the history and the various developments which occurred locally, including current expansion in industry and education.

In conclusion, John Warren offered a quotation from U. Thant, secretary general of the United Nations, which the speaker applied to Kingston. U. Thant's question of "What could we build if we worked together," included:

"If we were to ask ourselves what could we work on together now, a vast range of fascinating possibilities for enhancing the condition and the quality of human life open before us."

"This, gentlemen, can be as true for us in Ulster County as it is in the United Nations," Warren said.

Roosevelt Decisions Saugerties High, 9-8

After breaking a 6-6 tie with two runs in the ninth, Saugerties High proceeded to use a 9-8 DCSL decision Thursday at Roosevelt. The home side tallied three times in the last of the ninth to pull it out of the fire.

(Standings)

Team	W	L
Arlington	3	0
Louder	4	0
Poughkeepsie	3	0
Beacon	2	0
Whippeters	3	0
Roosevelt	1	0

Captain Pete Kramer of the Sawyers used 18 players in the thriller. Saugerties had to score twice in the seventh to knot the count. The big blow was a two-run single by John Silinovich.

Two Run Double

It was a double by Silinovich in the ninth which shot the visitors ahead, 8-6. His blow scored

Phoenicia LL Rosters Named

Team rosters and supervisory personnel for four Phoenicia Little League teams have been announced. League play is scheduled to start June 5.

Paul Herdman of Big Indian is league president. John Stager Jr. is Player Agent; Ben Neilsen, chief of umpires; and Robert Maroney, grounds manager.

The rosters:

Zipkin Earns Win, Pitches Two-Hitter

Oneonta State scored a trio of first inning runs but the rest of the game belonged to the Hawks of New Paltz as they registered a 6-3 SUNYAC victory Thursday at the Ulster diamond.

Dan Zipkin, the Hawk ace, settled down after the shaky start. He allowed only two hits along the way. For a change, his mates supported him with some runs.

Zipkin aided his cause with a fifth inning single, putting Brahm Sogby, who also hit safely on third base. An error then loaded the sacks.

A walk to Bill Maher forced in one run. With two outs, Bob Colotta also drew a pass and then Walt Bleyman singled to make it a four-run frame and sink the visitors.

New Paltz added a solo marker in the eighth to clinch the verdict.

Coach Joe Owens' team is now 2-3 in league play and is 3-5 for the season. The Hawks meet Fredonia State in a doubleheader Saturday at New Paltz.

The Hawk frosh team lost its fourth straight game, 6-3, at Rockland Community College.

Glenn Morehouse hurled for the winless losers. He allowed seven hits. Morehouse stroked a pair of safeties in his own behalf.

Speedway Sets Saturday Races

MIDDLETOWN — Another record crowd is expected to be on hand Saturday night at Orange County Fair Speedway at Middletown, New York.

The half-mile clay oval held its grand opening last Saturday night with a record 4,100 fans on hand. The crowd was treated to an outstanding stock car racing program that concluded with an exciting 25-lap modified feature that saw Pee Wee Griffin of Miami, Florida, Leon Manchester of Paulsboro, New Jersey, and Will Cagle of Tampa, Florida battle a bumper-to-bumper duel, with Cagle coming out on top in the backstretch on the final lap.

This Saturday night, Cagle will return to Middletown hoping to be a repeat winner. Manchester and Griffin will also be on hand to try to keep the 1966 point leader from making it two in a row.

In the limited division, Pat Patterson of Rio, New York will return looking for his second feature win in a row. Patterson outdistanced Ray Chase of Washington Township, N. J. last week in the limited feature at Middletown.

Though he didn't race last week, Tim Hallock of Cold Spring and his Slant 6 Limited Sportsman with a fuel injected overhead cam Pontiac 6-cylinder is expected to be on hand for Saturday night's stock program.

Dawn Glory Draws Magic Number "8"

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The betting public will give its main support to Damascus in Saturday's Kentucky Derby, but longshot Dawn Glory will be in a kind of favorite's role, too.

The colt who brought his Puerto Rican owners to the world's most glamorous horse race in their first fling at the sport will be carrying saddle cloth No. 8. That's the one that crossed the finish line first the past two years.

Every post position has been a winner at one time or another in the 92 Derbys, but for several it has been 25 years or more.

And for at least one, Lightning Orphan, the last win for position No. 11 could be more than slightly prophetic.

It was in 1933 that Brokers Tip and Head Play roared down the home stretch while their riders flailed at each other with their whips in the only violent roughhouse in Derby history.

Since the invention of the film patrol, jockeys have avoided such tactics.

Civil rights leaders have threatened to disrupt this year's Derby and have hinted demonstrators might spread to the track.

Going from the inside post position that produced its last winner, Chateaugay, in 1963, will be Louis Rowan's Rukun, winner of his last three starts and victor in the Santa Anita Derby.

Mrs. Edith Banoroff's Damascus, carrying Bill Shoemaker in his 16th consecutive Derby ride, starts from the same No. 2 slot that sent Tim Tam to victory in 1958. Odds now have Damascus as the 2-1 favorite.

Penne L. Grissom's second try in the run for the roses, Dr. Isby, goes from the No. 3 gate which hasn't produced a winner for 25 years. Bill Harrah will be aboard, seeking his fifth Derby victory in eight rides.

Diplomat Way, Harvey Peltier's surprise winner in the Blue Grass Stakes, will start as No. 4, the position that sent Decidedly to victory in 1962. That was the year after Diplomat Way's rider, John Sellers, won his Derby on Carry Back.

Barbs Delight, owned by a trio of young Lexington horsemen, goes from gate No. 5, without a winner since Court Fleet and Johnny Longden turned the trick in 1943.

Wheatley Stable's Successor, the juvenile champion of 1966 who is still looking for his first win of 1967, starts as No. 6, which had his last win in 1957 when Iron Liege nipped Gallant Man.

Proud Clarion, Darby Dan Farm's effort for two Derby victories in as many tries, will start from No. 7, last a winner in 1964 when Hartack got his fourth astride Northern Dancer.

Outside Dawn Glory, who will be wearing the number carried by both Lucky Debonair in 1965 and Kauai King last year, will be Field Master, seeking the first victory for No. 9 since Venetian Way in 1960.

Gentleman James, Michael Phipps' first entry in the Derby, will start from the same No. 10 gate that Dark Star left in his smashing defeat of Native Dancer in 1953.

Outside of Freeman Keyes' Lightning Orphan will be Second Encounter, wearing the same No. 12 that Hoop Jr. carried in 1945 and starting from the No. 12 gate that held Kauai King last year when addition of a mutual field garbled saddle cloth numbers and post positions.

Patrice Jacobs' Reason to Hail will leave from Jet Pilot's No. 13 gate with Charles F. Parker's Ask The Fare going from the same No. 14 position that Carry Back had.

If all 14 start in the 4:30 p.m., EST. Derby, the race will gross $162,200 and hand the winner $119,700 for about two minutes work.

The 93rd Derby will be televised (CBS) from 4-5 p.m., EST, and broadcast by radio (CBS) from 4:15-4:45.

Walkill Wins
Walkill Central Jayvees defeated Rondout Valley Central, 7-2, in baseball at Rondout Thursday. Puacet and Valquez pitched for the winners and Mark Fisher for Rondout.

Three Make Debut

Maroon Golfers Rip Lourdes in Opener

Pauker Cards 36 Low Medal

Coach Harold Hathaway unveiled his 1967 Kingston High golf varsity Thursday at Poughkeepsie and he liked what he saw.

Jordan Pauker was the only holdover in the first string quartet that topped unbeaten Our Lady of Lourdes (Poughkeepsie), 8½ to 3½, over the College Hill Links.

Pauker acted the part with 2-over-par 36 to set up a progression that saw Joe Bostic post 37, Robert Costello 38 and Ed Byman 39.

Coach Hathaway was obviously pleased that Costello, Byman and Bostic were able to "break 40" in their varsity debut.

Big Test Monday
"Maybe the team is everything you say it is," said Hathaway. "Of course the big test comes next Monday against unbeaten Port Jervis at Twaalfskill."

Byman lost his No. 3 match to Lourdes medalist Gary Cummings who fired a 37. Bostic and Costello swept three points and Pauker turned back Mike Cummings in the No. 1 slot, 2½ to ½.

The scores:

Jim Palkowicz Posts Weekly Trapshoot

Jim Palkowicz posted a .947 percentage to lead the weekly trapshoot meet at Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club range. Runnerup was Paul Wirthman with .933 and one string of 25. Herb Zaccaro posted .890. Bob Schmedake .850. Tom Bernardini .740. Chet Goy .620. Bill Costello .520. Frank Austermann .503.

A shoot for IBM night shift is scheduled Saturday from 10:20 a. m. to 1:30 p. m. All shooters are invited, whether IBM employees or not.

Jim Hart Just Loves That Mets Pitching

Jim Hart may be the biggest Met fan since Casey Stengel. Not for what the Mets do to the opposition. Which isn't much. For what he does to them.

And what he does to the Mets is amazing, absolutely amazing. "I can't explain it," the San Francisco Giants' third baseman said. "I just go up there swinging."

Whatever the cause, if Hart could play all his games against the Mets he'd probably break all of baseball's most cherished records.

He had a homer and scored twice Thursday night in the Giants' 3-1 victory over the Mets, boosting his season average against New York to .400.

But that isn't surprising. Last season he hit .415 against the Mets, collecting nine of his 33 homers and 20 of his 93 runs batted in. The season before, eight of his 23 homers came off Met pitching.

Two of his three homers this year have been against the Mets. The ninth-inning solo shot Thursday clinched it for the Giants, who had to survive a mild Met threat in the eighth.

Pittsburgh rallied for a seven-run seventh inning and whipped Los Angeles 9-3 while Houston took Philadelphia 4-1 in the only other major league games played. Chicago at Atlanta in the National League was rained out. There were no games scheduled in the American League.

Open Against Cardwell
Hart started it against the Mets' Don Cardwell—who allowed only four hits before leaving for a pinch hitter in the seventh—with a walk in the second. Singles by Hal Lanier and Tito Fuentes got one run.

The Mets tied it against Mike McCormick in the fourth, but the Giants went to 2-1 in the sixth on a double by Jesus Alou, a ground out and Willie Mays' ground single up the middle. McCormick, who had a three-hitter going into the eighth, got into a jam with two pinch singles after one was out. Frank Linzy came on, got the next man to ground into an inning ending double play and retired New York in order in the ninth. The Pirates vaulted into second place, two games back of idle Cincinnati, on the strength of their comeback victory against the Dodgers. Maury

Williams was the big gun against his old Dodger mates with two singles and a double.

His bases loaded single drove in two runs and triggered the seven-run seventh inning that wiped out a 3-2 Dodger lead. Bill Mazeroski had a bases-loaded triple in the big inning that saw 13 Pirates go to bat.

Three Houston right-handers, including winner Dick Farrell, combined for a five-hitter against the Phillies. Farrell came on in the fourth when starter Don Wilson pulled a shoulder muscle, and allowed only one hit before leaving in the seventh.

Three scratch singles and Jim Landis' double got two Astro runs in the first and Bob Aspromonte had a solo homer in the fourth.

Vikings Sign First Player

MIDDLETOWN — Jim Wilson, a 6-2, 245-pound offensive guard who played with the Scranton Miners of the Atlantic Coast Football League last year, is the first player to be signed by the Hudson Valley Vikings.

Announcement of the signing was made by president and general manager John J. (Jack) Halahan.

Wilson, considered one of the top offensive linemen in the AFL, spent the last part of the 1966 season with the New York Giants, with whom the Scranton team had a working agreement.

Head football and wrestling coach at Minisink Valley high school near here, Wilson is a graduate of Ithaca College where he was several times named to the ECAC team of the week.

A native of Roscoe, N. Y., Wilson came to the Miners as a tackle, but because of his speed and maneuverability, was switched to guard by Scranton coach Pete Carlesimo.

Wilson, who became head coach at Minisink Valley after the 1966 season, said he decided to sign with the North Atlantic Football League team because he makes his living in this area and because he'd like to be a part of the area's first professional grid team.

Halahan said Wilson is the type of player the Vikings want. "Jim has a solid background and experience in the top-level pro ball. His stint with the Giants last year is further proof that he knows the ins and outs of this game."

Sport Shorts

ROME (AP) — Victories by 2-1 scores have placed Milan and Padova in the semifinals of the Italian Cup soccer tournament. Milan beat Lecce and Padova defeated Napoli of Naples Thursday.

DUSSELDORF, Germany (AP) — The Soviet Union and West Germany have split the opening two singles matches of their Group A European Zone Davis Cup tennis competition.

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States Golf Association reports it has received a record 2,793 applications for entry in the 1967 U.S. Open golf championships scheduled for June 15-18 at the Baltusrol Golf Club, Springfield, N.J.

MONTE CARLO (AP) — Jackie Stewart of Scotland has set an unofficial course record while turning in the best time in a practice whirl for Sunday's Monaco Grand Prix for formula one cars. Stewart, who won last year, drove his 2-liter BRM over the twisting 1.95-mile course in 1 minute, 29.5 seconds for an average speed of 78.60 miles per hour.

ENSENADA, Mexico (AP) — Newsboy, a 12-meter sloop, and Audacious, a 73-foot sloop, took the lead Thursday night in the Newport, Calif.-to-Ensenada yacht sailing race.

Glascio-EK Trials
Glascio-East Kingston Little League will hold tryouts for all new players May 10-11 at the Glascio diamond. New candidates must report both nights.

Tom Williams fired a three-hitter and Rondout Valley broke into the UCAL victory column for the first time with a 6-0 decision Thursday at Walkkill.

While the home side was limited to three harmless singles, the Ganders picked up seven safeties off two Walkkill chucks.

Tom White clouted a pair of doubles for coach Hal Ross' squad. Greg Haase and Williams also hit doubles.

The Ganders broke a scoreless deadlock with two runs in the third and three more in the fourth. Haase's double drove in the third frame markers. Doug Doyle drove home a pair of runs in the fourth.

In pitching the distance, Williams walked only two and fanned six. His mates turned in good defensive efforts.

Rondout entertains Marlboro Monday in a league clash.

Lourdes Wins, 76-60, Over KHS Trackmen

Dominating the sprints and hurdles, Our Lady of Lourdes scored a 76-60 win over the Kingston High track team in a dual meet Thursday at Dietz Stadium.

Coach Bill Hurley's cinder-men were without the services of Dana Clearwater and Joel Tomson, the leading sprinters. Art Mowle, another sprinter, has quit the squad to enter service.

The Warriors took advantage of their advantage, sweeping both the 100 and 220 to give them 18 points in quick order. Gary Boice (mile) and Bill Brinnier (two-mile) remained unbeaten for the home side. They won their events without difficulty.

Kingston is on the road next Tuesday, going to Newburgh to meet the powerful Goldbacks.

And Suddenly: Mellow Maury

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Happiness, says Maury Wills, is playing against his former Los Angeles Dodgers teammates.

The little speedster was traded in a huff to Pittsburgh last winter, and Wills said he expected his first series against the Dodgers to be a bruising affair.

But the Dodgers were friendly; and Wills was friendly in return. "All of a sudden I became mellow," he said.

The Pirates won two of three games in the rain — shortened series as Wills batted .461, scored four runs, drove in a pair and stole a base.

"On Sunday I was anticipating the games," Wills said. "I was quite excited. The adrenaline was flowing. I thought it would be a knock-down, drag-out struggle."

"But it wasn't like that at all," he added. "They were glad to see me and I was glad to see them. All of a sudden I became mellow."

Japanese Lead

TOKYO (AP) — Japan took a commanding 2-0 lead over the Philippines in Far Eastern Davis Cup competition today with victories by Koji Watanabe and Ichizo Kozumi.

The Japanese need just one more victory in the final three matches to clinch the right to meet India in August in the zone finals.

Business Mirror Reflections

Find U.S. Householders Getting Deeper in Debt

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — The mounting debt of America's householders, which shows no sign of leveling off, is bringing with it growing concern that a lot of people might be getting in over their heads.

A foolproof criterion for estimating when a family is over-committed has never been devised. It is only when repayments are delinquent that proof is provided. And most people still are repaying their debts on schedule.

Add to Debt
The concern comes from the speed with which this debt is being added to. It has accumulated largely since World War II, but the rate of additions to it have accelerated in the past few years. It is now nearly $400 billion.

This means, in effect, that the old Puritan ethic that equated debt with sin is about dead. It means also that Americans have learned to live with the haunting memory of the Great Depression. And it means that many Americans have adjusted to a life they cannot afford on their present incomes.

A good argument can be made for saying this debt isn't nearly as bad as it sounds. In an expanding economy, with incomes rising and new and better jobs opening up, householders may be able to carry more debt. In addition, the sharp rise in holdings of life insurance, Social Security, unemployment compensation, health insurance and pensions has relieved many families of obligations that once had to be met with savings.

For Big Items
All this debt has not been frivolously assumed, either. Most of it has gone for homes, automobiles, television sets and heavy appliances such as washing machines and refrigerators.

Nevertheless, a study by the National Industrial Conference Board, a nonprofit educational and research organization, calls attention to the potential damage that could result if incomes should fall instead of rise.

The necessity of paying off this debt "may be increasingly undermining economic stability" during downturns in the economy, the board said. Debt means a commitment of future earnings. When these earnings are less than expected trouble ensues.

A downturn first limits the variety of choice in purchases. Money is committed; it cannot be used for discretionary buying. It is as if it were never owned by the individual who must pay the bills.

If current income fails to meet obligations, a secondary source must be used. Generally this means the household savings of cash, bonds and perhaps stock.

But, to pay off all household debt, about 80 per cent of all household savings would have to be used. Little would be left. Fortunately, all debts never fall due at once but, instead, spread over a period of time.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced again in heavy trading early Friday.

The New York Stock Exchange ticker tape fell briefly behind in reporting floor transactions during the first half hour.

Changes of most key issues were fractional. Brokers expressed the belief that the momentum generated in Thursday's advance on high volume would continue.

They were hopeful that the market would continue to respond favorably to economic developments, including encouraging retail sales performances and action by the administration and Congress to head off a recession.

Opening blocks included: American Airlines, up 1 1/2 at 39 on 15,000 shares; Schenley, up 1/2 at 62 1/2 on 9,400 shares; Standard Oil (California), off 1/4 at 61 on 7,000 shares, and Avco, up 1/4 at 47 1/2 on 6,900 shares.

Thursday The Associated Press 60-stock average advanced 1.6 to 328.3. Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange.

Managing Editor Of The Freeman Is Appointed

The appointment of Peter W. Barrecchia to the post of managing editor of The Kingston Daily Freeman was announced today by Louis R. Netter, editor of The Freeman.

Barrecchia, who has been identified with the newspaper business for 17 years, comes to Kingston from Albany, where he was assistant city editor of the Knickerbocker News. In 1950, he joined the editorial staff of the New York Mirror as a reporter and advanced to the position of assistant city editor. He remained with the Mirror until 1963 when it ceased publication. From 1963 to 1965, he was managing editor of Union-Sun & Journal, Lockport.

During his newspaper career, he received and Award of Honor for distinguished news coverage and presentation and an Award of Merit for community service from New York State Publishers Association.

A native of New York City, Barrecchia was graduated from Newtown High School, Queens and from St. Francis College, Brooklyn, where he was awarded an A.B. Degree. From Columbia Graduate School of Journalism, he earned his MS Degree. He received NROTC credits at Princeton University.

Barrecchia served in the U. S. Navy for three years during World War 2. He now resides with his wife, Joyce, and two children at Village Green, Rexford, N. Y.

Blaze Destroys W. Shokan Barn

A large two-story barn on the premises of Herbert Wells on Watson Hollow Road, West Shokan, was destroyed by fire Thursday afternoon. Excellent cooperation by members of the Olive Fire Department prevented the fire from spreading to nearby small buildings which were exposed to the severe heat from the burning barn. The residence, some 100 feet away, was not directly threatened although a high wind at the time carried flaming debris over a wide area.

The initial alarm was sounded at 5:15 p. m. and when firemen from Company 3 at West Shokan arrived they found the interior of the barn completely involved. Cause of the fire has not been determined. Under Captain Marcel Maier the West Shokan firemen attacked the blaze and a booster line was laid to protect several small buildings which were exposed. The property is located just over the Bushkill bridge. Company No. 5, Boiceville also responded and about 1,000 feet of hose was laid from the Bushkill. The Olivebridge pumper relayed water to the site of the fire, and Ashokan No. 2 firemen were sent to Boiceville station to stand by.

Chief Albert Fox reported Assistant Chief Robert Adit was at the fire and took charge of operations.

The barn and contents, which included a quantity of hay, tractor, camp trailer and riding mower together with other equipment, were completely destroyed. No livestock was housed in the barn.

The barn and hay burned with great intensity for about a half hour before the firemen brought the blaze under control and danger to other structures was eliminated. Chief Fox paid high tribute to the 40 firemen who responded and expressed great appreciation for the splendid work. Recall was sounded at 8:30 p. m. but at 10 p. m. West Shokan firemen returned to the scene and again wet down the embers.

The loss is only partially covered by insurance.

Wounds Fatal

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — A boy who Erie County sheriff's deputies said, was shot in the head accidentally by a hunting companion who mistook him for a woodchuck, died Thursday in Buffalo General Hospital.

Deputies said John Nicholson, 16, was struck by a .22-caliber bullet as he hunted April 25 on a farm in the Town of Concord, near his home in Springville, 25 miles south of Buffalo.

Nicholson lived on Vaughn Street.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING....

Never Expect

Too Much Too Soon

Q) "At 55, I earn $30,000 a year, have considerable savings and insurance plus these stocks bought last March: Beckman, Gillette, Hewlett-Packard, Coffee-Mat and Litton. My sole objective is growth. When I see stocks like American Home Products, Baxter Labs and Raytheon outstrip mine, I wonder, What do you think of my holdings?"

N. M.

A) If I may say so, you are expecting too much from your stocks in altogether too short a period. Sudden shifts in favor will often result in better short-term performance for certain individual issues than for others. In your circumstances, it is the long-range picture that is important. In this respect, you seem generally well situated.

Coffee-Mat is quite a small vending machine maker with a good but relatively short-term record of growth. There are some speculative elements here but the outlook is promising and I would retain the shares.

Beckman has glamor but an uneven record and commands a pretty high earnings multiple, largely on a possible improvement in profit margins. My own opinion is that Cenco Instruments—in a somewhat similar field but with a better growth history — is more reasonably priced. On a long-term basis, I advise switching Beckman into Cenco. Your remaining holdings seem satisfactory: Baxter Labs, and American Home Products might well be added as funds are available.

Q) "We are 71 and 72. We own American Motors and are worried. Should we take a loss in this stock and switch to something else?"

W. A.

A) In your circumstances, I would certainly do so. American Motors has been going downhill for several years and the present outlook is uncertain. The stock is a speculation on the ability of an able management to increase the company's dwindling share of new car business.

No dividends are paid and none seem in prospect. I advise you to switch to Portland (Oregon) General Electric, selling around 21, to yield five per cent.

Driver Hurt, Cited After Cairo Crash

Peter C. Fritz, 28, of Rensselaerville, was injured and cited by Leeds State Police for a traffic violation Thursday night, after his car was involved in an accident on Main Street, Cairo.

State Police Sergeant Joseph Cross said Fritz was driving along Main Street at the east end of the bypass when his car reportedly hit a fence.

Fritz was taken to Greene County Memorial Hospital, where his condition was listed as fair.

Troopers reported the motorist suffered a possible fractured arm at a speed too fast for conditions. The mishap occurred at about 8:30 p. m.

Lodge 10 Sets Family Night For Saturday

The internationally known Milos, together with Kingston's own Pete Matthews, will help entertain at the Family Night get together of Kingston Lodge 10 F&M at Bethany Hall, Old Dutch Church, Wall and Main Streets, Saturday at 6:30 p. m.

The Milos perform mental feats that are incredible, fascinating and completely provocative. They have appeared on many top name TV shows and have returned from an engagement abroad.

Matthews, who is known for his excellent banjo renditions, has appeared locally on many occasions. A get together will be held after the program with refreshments being served.

Gosnell Named Mason Deputy In N. Y. State

Dr. Charles F. Gosnell of Suffern, director of libraries of New York University, was unanimously elected Deputy Grand Master of Masons for the State of New York at the conclusion of the 186th Annual Communication of the State Grand Lodge held in New York City, May 2-4.

Dr. Gosnell was New York State Librarian and assistant commissioner of education, Albany, from 1945 to 1962, and has been director of libraries since 1962. He is a trustee of Skidmore College, a trustee and secretary of the Public Affairs Information Service, New York City, and trustee of the Mohawk Caughnawaga Museum at Fonda. Dr. Gosnell is president of the American Library Association, Administrative Division; and holds a Good Citizenship Gold Medal from the Sons of the American Revolution. He is a member of the University Club of Albany, and the Grotto Club of New York City.

Other officers re-elected include: Frank C. Staples of Floral Park, State Grand Master; Albert H. Hunt, Buffalo, Senior Grand Warden; Judge Louis M. Greenblott, Binghamton, Junior Grand Warden; William R. Knapp, Valley Stream, Grand Treasurer; and Wendell K. Walker, New York City, Grand Secretary.

Center's Work Is Spelled Out

The Ulster County Mental Health Center is the only public agency which supplies direct treatment services for emotional disturbance to the residents of Ulster County. The Center is staffed at the present time by a full-time director who is a psychiatrist, six part-time psychiatrists, two full-time psychologists, two part-time psychologists and one social worker.

Currently, besides treating appropriate patients on an out-patient basis, the Center supplies lecture and consultation service to agencies and professional individuals who request this. Although most of the Center's work is conducted in the Center's offices at 400 Broadway in Kingston, the director sees hospital patients in consultation and may carry clinic patients in treatment in special circumstances.

Psychiatric emergencies are seen at the Center by the director, and in the Emergency Rooms at both Kingston hospitals.

The Center is planning to open a Day Hospital for the care of individuals who can best be treated in such a set up. This plan will be solidified when the necessary staff has been obtained.

The director of the Center supervises that work of Gateway Industries, Inc., the Association for Retarded Children, and the Children's Home of Kingston, Inc., which is conducted for individuals with emotional disturbances.

The staff of the Center is looking forward to the time when in-patient facilities for psychiatric problems of adults and children can be developed in one of the general hospitals.

The facilities which now house the Center are inadequate as far as space is concerned, and the staff look forward to the time when a building with more generous space will be available.

Boy Scout News Pack 7 Climbs Wittenberg Trail

The fourth monthly pack meeting of Cub Scout Pack 7 began in the First Presbyterian Church last week when James Kelly presented the colors for Den 1. Color guards assisting him were Gary McCloskey and Kim Pearson, who led the pack and parents in the Pledge of Allegiance.

Mr. and Mrs. John Pugliese and their son Greg were invested as new members, Greg receiving his Bobcat award. Bart Robins, Mike Kirk and Marvin Savatgy received Wolf Badges and accompanying gold arrows. John Pacut was presented with a Lion Badge by his mother.

Honor Den 1

The attendance award, given monthly to the Den with the greatest percentage of parents present at the pack meeting was won by Den 1. Both dens, under the direction of Mrs. Lillian Anderson and Pauline Robins presented skits and led all present in songs about the April theme Mountains of America.

In keeping with that theme, 28 members and leaders of the pack met last week to climb a mountain. They drove to Woodland Valley Camp near Phoenix, Ariz., and then hiked up the rugged trail. Present for the rugged outing were Mrs. Mothers Pauline Robins, Lillian Anderson and Dorothy Kelly. They and Donald Robins and Kenneth Pearson helped to lead the boys and prevent straggling.

2,600 Feet Up

The pack crossed the hanging bridge and climbed 1½ miles to the Terrace Mountain open camp, (altitude 2,600 ft.) where all had lunch and searched for salamanders. Ellsworth Johnson and Robert Carlzon and Den Chief David Korzenzendorf led a conservation "good turn" in which all the boys policed the lean-to area, gathering and removing a large pile of refuse. After the cleanup, the boys climbed another half mile to the overlook below Wittenberg summit, where Cubmaster Roy Anderson pointed out some other peaks and showed them how to orient a map.

30-Hour Event to Help Swell Gifts for Area GI's in Vietnam Sector

Upwards of 100 Ulster County servicemen now with the armed forces in Vietnam will receive gifts through the generosity of the public and cooperation of area residents in the drive sponsored by the Ulster County Vietnam Servicemen's Committee.

The general committee headed by Edward H. Engelhardt of the sponsoring unit, Ulster Hose Co. 5, said a radiothon to be conducted by the fire company in conjunction with Jim Tyrrell and Big John and WKNY will start Saturday, May 6 at 6 a. m. and will continue without interruption for 30 hours or more.

Special Features

Special features have been planned for the weekend event and the public is urged to cooperate by making donations or taking part in the program.

Additional collection stations have been set up where gifts may be left for the Vietnam servicemen. The new stations are located at the American Legion Post 150, West O'Reilly Street 8:30 a. m. to noon on Mondays through Fridays; Hurley Fire Department, first Monday of each month 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. and every Sunday 9 a. m. to 12 noon; Stone Ridge Firehouse Saturday, May 6, 1 to 8 p. m.

Other collection stations are: Ulster Hose Co. 5, Albany Avenue Extension; Kingston Daily Freeman uptown office, 239 Fair Street; WKNY on Broadway; Bob Myer Market, Route 9W; Ulster County Community College, Rosendale Constable's office, South Road, High Falls; V.F.W. Post 1386, Delaware Avenue; HWFM, 90 Lawrenceville Road; Town of Ulster Post Office on Vincent Street.

Lauds Cooperation

Chairman Engelhardt in a statement issued today said, "The spirit of cooperation and concern for Ulster County servicemen in Vietnam is deeply gratifying. The response to this program by the entire county is one that I am sure is a tremendous morale booster to our boys in Vietnam."

"This program is only in its second week, yet the time and space devoted by The Kingston Daily Freeman WBZ and WKNY are to be admired by all. The personal attention to this program by Richard Treat, general manager of The Kingston Freeman is most certainly appreciated."

Engelhardt said the original list of names of Ulster County men serving in Vietnam was supplied by WBZ and offered Ulster Hose Co. 5 "a tremendous start on a very worthwhile program."

The chairman said that for WKNY to spend 30 consecutive hours on a radiothon for Ulster County servicemen "speaks for itself." Engelhardt said he hopes this program will spread to other counties.

Firemen to Assist

Fire Chief James M. Brett of Kingston has offered full cooperation to the drive, and said city volunteer fire units in Kingston will canvass their areas in fire trucks on Saturday and will accept cash donations from residents for the general Vietnam fund.

Friday and Saturday nights, WRGB TV, Schenectady will present booster programs for the local program, Engelhardt said. He noted that a "bubble tower" a large clear plastic ball will be placed in front of Ulster Hose Co. firehouse where passersby may deposit cash to aid the program.

A Stone Ridge fire truck with officers of the company will join other fire companies with apparatus on Broadway for a display during the radiothon Saturday and through the weekend. A 48-foot rotating sign with the names of all Ulster county servicemen now in Vietnam, will be operated in front of WKNY building which will be elaborately decorated in red, white and blue bunting during the radiothon. The decorations will be arranged by Leon Studd.

Landed by Post 150

Rallying to the support of the Vietnam servicemen's committee drive is Kingston Post 150, American Legion, Commander Robert V. Delaney in a letter to the committee highly praised Ulster Hose Co. for its thoughtfulness in launching the drive. "We trust that everyone will support this patriotic project," Delaney said.

Delaney offered the services of the Legion Post. "It is certainly refreshing today to hear of people and other groups who are interested in helping our boys in Vietnam and supporting our government's policies there instead of seeing anti-Vietnam groups demonstrating and trying to downgrade the sacrifice made by our boys in this far-away land," Delaney said.
